

Dean?s Towing Fires Up Towing Service in Reno, NV

September 06, 2019

September 06, 2019 -
After providing reliable towing service in Reno, NV for over a decade, Dean?s Towing re-launches its business operations with invigorated towing and roadside assistance services on August 20, 2019. The company, which now has over 15 years of expertise in its scope of experience, has proven its dedication in giving Nevadans the most excellent tow truck services. As part of its enduring commitment, the organization has expanded its value-added services at the best prices in the market to the adjoining districts of Reno. Among them included Sun Valley, Golden Valley, Hobart Mills, Golden Hills, Silver City and a whole lot more. The company representative, Marion Hackett, says, ?We continue to improve our services to better serve the Biggest Little City in the World. We made our towing services even better and expanded our roadside assistance services. People in Nevada will no longer be stressed or feel helpless when their car breakdowns because Dean?s Towing will be there for them.?

A major element of re-launching the business operations of Dean?s Towing is their affordable rates. The company guarantees that its price rate is one of the lowest compared to other professional towing companies. Hackett explains, ?Considering our fully insured services that are performed by licensed towers, our pricing is reasonable. We keep our costs transparent and fees upfront. We don?t make hidden or extra charges so customers will not pay more than originally quoted.?

Fast response time is another area in which the company has significantly improved. Hackett says, ?A customer waiting for help for an hour is not acceptable. Help delayed is help denied. We strive to arrive at a customer in 30 minutes or less by sending the nearest available tow technician quickly to the customer.? He also guarantees that their office is open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. ?We will come to a customer to help no matter what time of day it is. Customers can call us at two in the morning or on a Christmas day for help. They can count on our company and be assured that only licensed professionals will work for them.?

Dean?s Towing provides various types of tow services, roadside assistance and other special services that a customer may need. Services they offer included 24-7 emergency towing, long-distance towing, towing on a platform, spare tire change, locksmith, current for drained batteries, fuel and oil deliveries, motorcycle towing plus a whole lot more. Hackett adds, ?There may be other special needs that a motorist may need like basic mechanical repairs and we want to meet them all as much as possible.? In line with the re-launching of their business operations, Dean?s Towing also introduced their new official website. The website contains detailed information about the company, its services and service areas. It offers customers an alternative online channel to contact, send requests and learn more about the company. It gives customers tips and advises on driving, traffic, traveling and other related issues. Customers are invited to visit the company through their website to learn more about their specials, updates and other news. Hackett explains, ?We are extending customer service through the website. Our website acts as our frontline employee who attends to customer inquiries. It empowers our customers by providing information and handling useful and practical knowledge. It also offers customers multichannel for reaching us.?

Customers can also leave feedback and reviews of their experience with the company. Some of which are posted on the website. ?Customer reviews help us measure our performance and continuously improve our services,? Hackett adds. Interested customers may contact and visit the company through their website which can be accessed here: https://www.deanstowingservice.com.
