Furnace Repair Edmonton, based in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, has announced the maintenance plan offered by its partner, Capital Plumbing. The Furnace Repair Edmonton Maintenance Plan is designed to protect the home from costly and inconvenient plumbing problems. About 22 percent of the clients of Furnace Repair Edmonton can apply for membership in the Capital Club.

The membership will only cost $19.95 per month and members will receive $200 worth of plumbing and heating service for free. With this service, one of the Certified Service Technicians from the company will visit the home to perform a thorough inspection and scheduled service. The technician will also assess all connected and related equipment.

Bob Bies, General Manager of Furnace Repair Edmonton, says, "I understand that heating and plumbing systems are somewhat of a mystery to many homeowners. If you think about it, how many of us really think about our furnace or plumbing until it breaks down? That is why our aim is to take the "mystery" out of the equation so you that know what to expect from us at all times. With this maintenance plan, you cannot lose. You will have peace of mind knowing that your systems are always on top condition."

The $200 value service package is provided absolutely free to Capital Club members. This package includes free annual furnace service; faucet performance testing; toilet inspection and minor adjustments; and water line damage assessment.

Furnace Repair Edmonton offers various plumbing, heating and air conditioning services for Edmond and neighbouring areas. Their services include air conditioning services; boiler service and replacement; furnace repair, installation and check up; full plumbing services; and water heating solutions.

Furnace repair and installation services are currently recommended because of the approaching winter months. When the weather is cold, homeowners depend on their furnace to keep everyone warm. This is why emergency repair services are offered by the company 24/7. Furnace Repair Edmonton has already developed a reputation of providing quality service, providing recommendations on the appropriate HVAC equipment for the homeowner's budget and requirements, and dependable furnace repair and installation.

Furnace Repair Edmonton suggests that homeowners and property owners take note of six signs that their furnace may need to be replaced. The first sign is the furnace is old and nearing the end of its life. The life of a furnace has been estimated to range from 16 to 20 years. Another sign is that the utility bills have been climbing up. This is because the furnace is becoming less efficient as it gets older because of components getting worn and breaking down.

Another possible sign that the furnace needs to be replaced is that members of the household are feeling groggy or disoriented. While there may be other causes, one possibility is that cracks in the heat exchange of the furnace have started to leak carbon monoxide. Since carbon monoxide is poisonous and very dangerous, it is a threat to the residents that must be taken care of. This stresses the importance of having regular furnace inspections.

Another possible indicator is that people are hearing creaks and noises. While a certain level of noise can be expected to emanate from the furnace, when this begins to worsen into rattles and squeaks that continue incessantly, it is time to have the furnace inspected for the possibility of replacement.

Still another sign of the possible need to replace the furnace is that some rooms no longer get as warm as before. This means that the furnace is losing its power to properly distribute the hot air throughout the home. And finally, the sixth sign is cycling of the furnace more frequent than it used to. All of these signs are warning the homeowner to have the furnace inspected and possibly have it replaced.

Those who want to know more about the services provided by Furnace Repair Edmonton can visit their company website, or contact them through the telephone or via email. Aside from Edmonton, the company also serves homes and properties in St. Albert, Sherwood Park, Spruce Grove, and Stony Plain. Bob Bies says, "You may also want to visit us on Facebook to be updated about various events connected with our services."
