September 20, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Newport Beach, CA based Dr. Aaron Kosins MD seeks to pioneer new and improved standards of patient care by setting an example of exemplary doctor-patient interaction at his clinic. Taking a holistic approach to the procedures he performs, the plastic, reconstructive, and cosmetic surgeon hopes to inspire other healthcare providers to improve what they consider standard patient care.

“It’s not just about the doctors and clinics either,” says Dr. Aaron Kosins, who runs a practice of the same name. “We want patients to experience the best of what the field has to offer every time they walk in our doors, and we want them to demand better medical service no matter where else they go. This is because every patient deserves to be treated well and offered the best care available.” As the clinic proudly states on their website, “Patients come first and providing excellent care is the standard of care.”

According to Dr. Kosins, this business and healthcare ethos extends to the administrative side of his practice as well. “Anyone who has stepped into a clinic will know that the field is notorious for long wait times and seemingly indifferent healthcare professionals. While, here, this means that each patient who finally sits down for a consultation gets the time and attention they require, we understand that waiting an extended period for your turn can be tiring. To minimize this as much as possible, our staff are trained and encouraged to make your wait as pleasant as possible, and we take several measures behind the scenes to ensure that you never have to wait too long. The surgical practice offers a variety of procedures that patients can request, including rhinoplasty, facial aging and rejuvenation, fat transfer or liposculpture, breast augmentation, and more. To help achieve each patient's perfect, desired look, the clinic employs only the most experienced and talented surgeons to perform each procedure. "Our patients expect the best of us and it is our sincere duty and privilege to deliver," says Dr. Kosins. "Since we would not be able to maintain either our standards or reputation without the finest healthcare providers, we ensure that every treatment you receive or procedure you undergo is carried out by a world-class professional of their respective field." For instance, he recommends that new patients take a look at Dr. Stefani Kappel, a Board-Certified Dermatologist and Fellowship-Trained Mohs Surgeon, whose areas of expertise include cosmetic dermatology with a focus on injectable neuromodulators.

Furthermore, Windy Gibson Bess, a surgical tech at Aaron Kosins MD says, "It is always a pleasure to assist him because his quality of work allows me to be proud of the results he has achieved. Although many areas of the body have been perfected, he has shown some of the most amazing skills during his rhinoplasties (nose jobs). I have to be honest that there were a few times that I didn't think the patient's desired result was achievable, but Dr. Kosins proved that it was, indeed, possible! His perfectionist habits have helped him attain skills that many surgeons only dream of. If you have chosen Dr. Kosins as your surgeon, then I commend you on your ability to pick a high quality, professional, highly skilled, and sincere doctor!"

Dr. Aaron Kosins himself carries a distinguished educational and training background, and has contributed to a long list of publications. He is a graduate of the University of California, where he studied Business Administration while completing his Pre-Med qualifications. Following this, he completed a dual Medical Degree (M.D.) and a Masters in Business Administration (MBA) in Entrepreneurship at the University of California, Irvine School of Medicine, and Paul Merage School of Business, respectively. Dr. Kosins has worked to develop technology in the basic sciences, and has published his findings with world-renowned innovators in nerve regeneration, stem cell technology, microsurgery, facial aging, and rhinoplasty.
