While human resources is a delicate subject, and one of the keystones of a business' success, it is an aspect that often gets overlooked?and its importance is similarly dismissed out of hand. Many companies make the mistake of putting inexperienced staff in charge of their HR department, a situation that leads to unhappy workers who underperform in their respective roles.

Salopek & Associates was born out of the necessity for an advisor who could guide companies that had inexperienced or nonexistent HR departments. They partner with organizations in need of experienced and successful HR professionals who understand the business, providing expert advice and training on these essential matters. These partnerships allow the client to discover issues with their employee base that keep them from functioning at full capacity. Following this, Salopek & Associates can help them devise a strategy through which the issues are resolved, making employees more comfortable in their roles and, therefore, allowing them to perform better at their jobs.

Janet Salopek, Founder of Salopek & Associates, states, "HR is one of the most significant parts of ensuring your business' success in the long run. Our services go all the way from ensuring that you hire the right person for the job to building a healthy relationship among your employees and making sure that they are performing to their fullest. You will notice the difference when you have more capable individuals who are committed to driving your business to success. We are committed to our values of building strong relationships with our clients, working with the highest standards of integrity and demonstrating expert knowledge and skill in the areas that we work in."

In the years since their inception, Salopek & Associates grew from a small team of individuals, who shared a vision of helping others find success by providing HR support, to one of the most successful consultancy and advisory firms in Canada. They now rely on some of the best and most experienced consultants in the industry. Their team of experts is capable of identifying their clients? needs and adapting according to their goals, ensuring their clients have the specially tailored attention that they require.

The services provided by Salopek & Associates include Recruitment & Retention, Recruiting-by-the-Hour, Recruitment Training, Compensation & Benefits, Performance Management, Policies & Procedures, and many more. All of these services currently have openings at their Ottawa and Toronto locations, though the company invites prospective clients to contact them and schedule an appointment at their convenience.

However, their capabilities are not limited to these services. They possess several other initiatives and resources that demonstrate the value of having an experienced HR advisor. For instance, the company uses their free, online blog to discuss some of the most popular topics related to human resources. More information is available here: See Our Blogs.

The firm?s dedication to their work, and the conscientious attention they pay all their clients, is evident in the highly positive reviews they receive online. On the Google platform, for instance, they possess a perfect review score of 5/5 stars. One of their most recent reviews, written by Marlys Jordan, states, "We?ve been working with Salopek & Associates Ltd. for a year now.
