September 20, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Midstate Towing Company just launched its 24 Hour towing service in Virginia Beach, VA on August 23, 2019, as it seeks to expand its footprint in the Resort City. In a bid to make its services available to the greater populace in and around the VA Beach area, the company has set 5 key locations strategically dispersed in the area so that their tow team can provide quick response to emergency calls within 30 minutes. The company serves communities like Mapleton, Michaelwood, Bellany Manor, Pungo, and Barrets Corner, and many more. The complete listing of their service areas and zip codes can be accessed in this link: <http://gmbp.in/u/5d840bdbbd56f>.

Known for having the longest pleasure beach in the world, Virginia Beach attracts 2.7 million tourists every year. The city is also a hub of international commerce hence thousands of business folks also go to the city. This only translates to a large population of people and cars in the city. Numerous cars experience roadside problems regularly. Midstate Towing offers its emergency towing and roadside assistance 24-7 to address these problems that can happen across Virginia Beach, VA, and its surrounding communities.

Midstate Towing is also delighted to announce the launch of its new website which can be found at <https://www.midstate-towing.com>. The professionally built website features coherent and clear-cut navigation and a neat and modern interface. Most of all, it was designed to be mobile-friendly, which dynamically adjusts on any device a visitor uses so that the site always displays appropriately. This is vital for a towing company website because most customers use mobile devices to visit and contact tow operators. Midstate Towing has also focused on its social media platform to provide better interaction and support to its customers and the general public.

“We are well known as a community business, says Caiden Jensen of Midstate Towing. “But modern society dictates our need to establish an online presence to grow and develop our towing operations and better serve the people. We have modernized our website and have since received positive feedback from some of our customers.”

Janah Callawel from Cape Henry, a recent customer of the company, expresses, “Your new website very well complements your top-class towing services. It is very informative and useful. I have also availed of your 15% discount in your jumpstart service.”

In terms of their tow truck solutions, the company has established a name for attention to detail, excellent customer service, and a dogged determination to bring about the best towing solutions for every customer. The company offers auto recovery services, winch out services, fast local towing, reliable long-distance towing and responsive roadside assistance services. Their tow team arrives in time for stranded motorists who need emergency assistance, and they strive to make themselves available to the driving public 24-7.

Jensen adds, “We leave no stone unturned to make sure that our customers receive the best towing experience. After all, we wouldn’t have any business without them. We are delighted and happy to serve the people in Vah Beach for many years to come.”

Jensen states their company’s commitment to overall customer satisfaction sets them apart from the competition. He also emphasized that they only employ licensed and skilled towing operators and mechanics who can measure up to their high standards. He says, “All towing companies are all in the same game, just different levels. We belong to the top level.”

People who want to learn more about the company can visit the company website or contact them to learn more. Jensen invites the general public to visit their new website not only to learn about their services but to leave messages and access their educational materials.
