"For over two decades, hundreds of thousands of motorists have used our services for towing, winching, flat tire change, battery jumpstart and other emergency assistance. As more cars are added to our roads and highways every year, we also continue to grow our operations to serve more motorists for their tow truck needs," said Josiah Hunt, the spokesperson of NJ Towing Pros.

One of the strongest features of the NJ Towing Pros services is its quick 30-minute response time. While the company is based at Commerce Street in Newark, NJ, they have five key stations with towing team on stand-by strategically positioned around Newark. This allows them to dispatch their tow crew nearest to the customer location and provide a response within 30 minutes. The company's emergency contact number is also managed by dedicated agents who conduct a quick evaluation of customer requirements and send out teams immediately. The company has also made a proactive action plan to prevent any delays in responding to customers. All tow drivers underwent training to act energetic, fast, and enthusiastic in delivering service. They adopted employee rotation to prevent getting understaffed. All tow trucks and equipment are kept well maintained daily so that they are always ready anytime they are dispatched. Hunt says, "Fast response is a matter of necessity. Long delays of emergency tow truck services leave motorists at risk especially those stranded in the middle of nowhere or the wee hours of the night."

NJ Towing Pros has also introduced a new online site to support its growing base of customers and the general public. The new website is an opportunity for the driving public to develop a deeper understanding of the company and its services. With a neat and clean design and vivid images, the content reflects NJ Towing Pros vibrant brand and provides insight with its range of superior towing and roadside assistance services.

Hunt says, "Our new website is a platform that showcases the real capabilities of NJ Towing Pros. It also serves to guide customers on the use of our towing services. We will keep on building new content in the future to create a wealth of valuable resources for the people of Brick City."

Since launching the website, the company has received some positive reviews written by some of their previous customers. The majority of the reviews are encouraging, emphasizing the effort of the company to make sure customers receive the best towing services at affordable prices. Jeremy Philips from West Orange shares, "Arrived on time, discounted, excellent service and to top it all off, their towing workers were super friendly and easy to talk to. Great service and highly recommended."

Hunt states that they have committed themselves to overall customer satisfaction. He adds their towing technicians are all experienced professionals who carry out services with unmatched dedication. "More than just serving, they enjoy helping," he remarks.
