September 26, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Ethos Spa, Skin and Laser Center, based in Summit, New Jersey, has announced that they are offering Botox NJ treatments. This is the only injectable procedure approved by the FDA for treating brow lines and crow's feet in adults. The procedure has been ascertained to be extremely safe and the medical spa is currently offering a $100 gift certificate off Botox for patients.

"Botox NJ is one of the most effective means to take the stress off your face, in terms of pricing and surgical effort. Though Botox is referred to as a type of plastic surgery, no surgery is actually involved in the procedure, saving you the possibility of going under the knife," says Dr. Hardik Soni from Ethos Spa, Skin and Laser Center.

He continues, "This plastic surgery alternative solution allows you to step in and step out with little to no change to your daily routine. Never worry about losing time recovering from Botox injections; after a single treatment, you can expect to see results in just a few days, and these results could last for months (like a permanent makeup solution).?

Botox, which is also known as Botulinum toxin, is a natural protein that often utilized for skin rejuvenation treatment. It is derived from natural bacteria found in nature, such as lakes, forests, and within fish and mammals. Its effect is that it relaxes the facial muscles and muscles in other parts of the body. The result is that fine lines, crow's feet, and wrinkles disappear immediately, allowing the patient to look younger.

Botox can also be used in a variety of other ways. These include acne treatment; chin and jawline softening; nose job similarities; neck smoothening; migraine treatment; reduction of excessive sweating; lip lift; twitching eye treatment; and more. The medical spa also offers other treatments such as laser hair removal, CoolSculpting, lip injections, Brazilian butt lift, tattoo removal, and more. More information about these services can be viewed on the medical spa's Youtube page at <https://www.youtube.com/channel/UC6uBiPJqyjkJyPLwpmTZUbw>.

Dr. Soni wants to point out that the undeserved stigma against Botox injections and related skin care products is finally gone. In fact, these injections have now become the most common non-invasive plastic surgery procedure. Statistics has shown that there are now 337 percent more men getting Botox compared to the number in 2000. Also, there are 28 percent more 20 to 29 year olds who are using Botox today compared to that of 2010. And 6.7 million Botox procedures were done in 2015 alone.

At the medical spa in New Jersey, they provide facial and skin care applications of Botox treatments. In fact, many patients are finding that it may be a better alternative compared to invasive procedures like eyelid surgery, cheek augmentation, and more.

Botox injections are also being offered for breast augmentation. It may prove to be a better alternative to breast surgery and breast implants for patients who are unhappy with their breast asymmetry and breast reconstruction issues. Botox injections may now also be used for breast reduction and breast lifts.

Dr. Hardik Soni's primary focus at the medical spa is minimally invasive and non-invasive cosmetic procedures, including botulinum injection, laser hair removal, chemical peels, dermal fillers, and laser skin rejuvenation. He is experienced with several laser platforms, such as Candela, Fraxel, Cutera, Sciton, Aesthera, and Syneron. He has already successfully performed over 15,000 laser treatments. He had completed his undergraduate degree at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, MD. After that, he had trained in emergency medicine and aesthetic medicine. Later on, he was selected to be part of the Advisory Medical Panel of Bella Magazine in New York City.
