August 10, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Passionate Care LLC, a company based in Valencia, CA, has listed their stethoscope for sale through Amazon.com. The pulmonary and cardiology stethoscope is doctor and nurse approved, and it meets the FDA standards as well.

Raul Meza, spokesperson for Passionate Care, said that great care was taken to develop their stethoscope, and they are confident that medical professionals will be excited with the quality and comfort that they provide. The company stated that their stethoscope is able to produce great sound, which will make it easy to hear blood pressure, every heartbeat, every heart sound and every rail, crackle and rhonchi. Their stethoscopes are also designed to be soft and comfortable so that they seal tight without hurting the ears while in use.

Currently, there are 16 customer reviews in total, all of them being positive. One customer wrote the following in her review: "This stethoscope is by far one of the best I have ever used.... I was not sure what to expect when I got this but can I tell you it is wonderful. This may just be the best stethoscope that I have ever used. It is loud and allows you to hear the heart and other areas perfectly. I will definitely be recommending to my RN friends and co-workers. The percussion with this instrument is by far the best that I have used. The stethoscope itself is made of quality material and I love that it comes with different size ear pieces..."

Raul Meza said that Passionate Care is confident in the quality of their stethoscope, and to back this up they are offering a full 60 day money back guarantee to any customer that is not completely satisfied with the product. Customers who are Amazon Prime members will also be able to get free shipping when they buy the stethoscope. Those who would like more information on the company's latest product are encouraged to visit Passionate Care's Amazon storefront. Here, interested parties will also be able to read reviews written by customers that have already bought the product.
