September 26, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Leading residential gutter cleaning company enhances personalized customer support - breaking with online only providers.

Mountain View, AR ? Clean Pro Gutter Cleaning today announced new features and services to improve customer satisfaction including toll-free telephone support. The brand provides residential and commercial rain gutter cleaning services in over 200 major metropolitan areas of the country - covering the United States from coast to coast.

Providing the new toll-free customer support center breaks with the direction many home services companies have taken in recent years.

?With the focus of the internet becoming more and more impersonal and automated, we decided as a company, to go in a completely different route,? said Clean Pro Gutter Cleaning Founder and President J. D. Byrd. ?When others are going full into cutting costs and cutting services, we want to give our customers more. We want to set the standard for customer service in the home services niche.? he added.

The brand is now able to respond to customers via email, text, and telephone depending on their preference. "We looked at what the "big guys" are doing and it is all about automation and cutting costs. They are no longer personal, they're just algorithms and software," Byrd said. "By providing customers with a variety of ways to interact with us - and us with them - brings the personal touch and attention to service back into the mix that the others have abandoned."

Clean Pro connects consumers with their local, independent contractor network transparently and handles all quotes, scheduling, follow up, and billing. Adding the toll-free support center rounds out the customer service experience which includes text messaging, email and secure online billing platforms.

Growing from one city 15 years ago, Clean Pro Gutter Cleaning is the flagship of the KJB Limited family of companies that now includes CPX HomeServices in the larger home repair and improvement industry and Byrd Digital - a best in class digital marketing and media agency working with contractors and other home improvement businesses among others.

"Clean Pro Gutter Cleaning will continue to provide the best customer experience regardless of how they reach us," Byrd added. "We can take a much more proactive approach to that now."
