However, there are still downsides to simply ignoring spiders noticed in a home or business. Pest Control in Galt has announced they are providing treatments for spiders, both harmless and poisonous.

"The majority of spiders we treat in homes around the Sacramento County area are for your typical house spiders. Another common spider we treat for is the wolf spider. They're a little more intimidating visually than the house spiders. Luckily they aren't harmful but you still don't want them coming inside your home," the business manager stated.

One poisonous spider in the area that the company also treats for is the black widow. "It's only the female black widow spiders that have venomous bites. Their body is black and their abdomen has a red design," the manager said.

Black widows can be found in the center of their web, typically hanging upside down. They won't bite unless provoked or it feels threatened while protecting its eggs. Another way people get bit is accidentally "not noticing the spider before they came into contact with it."

"The best way to make sure you never have to experience a black widow bite is by having your property treated for spiders. Simply keeping them away from the start is the best course of action," the manager added.
