September 30, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Multifaceted Business and Marketing authority JayKay Dowdall certainly appreciates where he came from and where he is today. In an effort to give back to the community Dowdall is holding the first yearly Youth Development Program for Young Entrepreneurs for free for 250 students.

The online business world certainly holds a huge amount of potential for students who wish to become successful entrepreneurs when they enter the work force. With the right focus, skills, mindset, and network anything is possible. One person who has over-performed in the online business world and who now shares his own deep knowledge with those wanting to best develop their own abilities is Online Business Coach JayKay Dowdall. Usually dedicated to training entrepreneurs himself, Dowdall recently announced he will be teaching a free six-week course for 250 high school and college students in the first annual Youth Development Program for Young Entrepreneurs. Dowdall is donating his time and knowledge to help encourage these young future entrepreneurs to get off on the right foot and, hopefully, to inspire them to dive into the online business world with enthusiasm.

?Working with thousands of entrepreneurs each year has reminded me of the passion for success I had in high-school and college and the lack of resources there were to help me bring my passions to life,? commented Dowdall. ?With this Youth Development Program, I hope to assist the inspiration of tomorrows generation by giving them the resources that weren't available to me when I was in their shoes.?

The special free online course is aimed at students who have a great idea, but don't know how to turn it into an online business. It will be delivered through live web-classes taught by Dowdall over six weeks with 250 young entrepreneurs attending, for free, from all corners of the globe. The web classes will focus on how to create a profitable business model, the ins and outs of operating an effective online marketing plan without spending large amounts on advertising, and how to use social media to win over and keep loyal customers who buy into the brand. The secrets revealed are things Dowdall would normally charge thousands for, but in this case, he is happy to invest in delivering it for free to the future of the online business world.

The initial response to news about the course has been passionate.

Jose Jimenez, a 16-year-old from Los Angeles, remarked, "It's so exciting to join this program and have a mentor to help me find a way to sell my art online." Jimenez who wants to build an online business around selling oil paintings, has been accepted for the 2019 class and is counting the days until it begins.
