September 03, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Quality Pest Control of San Pedro has been providing reliable pest control service to the San Pedro area for over a decade. The company has been helping thousands of families with their pest infestations for years. They have earned a good reputation with a lot of good reviews to prove for it. The company has a team of 15 professional pest exterminators that work hard to keep Los Angeles County pest free.

The company recently announced that they are hiring a new employee. Brandon Wilson will be starting work this Thursday. The company was very excited to announce the new hire. Brandon has had over fifteen years of experience in the pest control business and his expertise will be very appreciated at Quality Pest Control of San Pedro.

The president of the company went on to talk about Brandon, "Brandon has a long history in pest control and because of this he has a lot of experience to bring to the table. He has treated hundreds, if not, thousands of species of pests over his time in pest control. This is going to be useful in helping our local residents stay pest free. Brandon has great work ethic and an amazing can-do attitude. We know our customers are going to love hiring him for their pest control needs."

The company has noticed a recent increase in new pest infestations because pests are getting more resilient to pest control treatments like pest spray or traps. An employee of Quality Pest Control of San Pedro went on to talk more about this, "Pests have always been a problem for people everywhere. Pests naturally like indoor environments and like getting into your home or commercial property. They are becoming harder to treat because they are growing immune to pest sprays and pest traps that anyone can pick up at the store. These methods of treating pests aren't as effective as they used to be and because of this professional services are beginning to be the only worthwhile option."

The employee went on to say, "Because of this increase in pest infestations, pest control business has been busy. Our pest exterminators are fighting hard for our county to be as pest free as possible. We know Brandon is going to be a great addition to the team and is up for the challenge of making Los Angeles County as pest free as possible.?
