Quality Invent has recently launched their second product on the Amazon marketplace, the Heavy Duty Phone Car Mount Holder for iPhone and Samsung. The new product is designed to make it easier for consumers to store, check, and answer their smartphones while driving.

Jin Liew of Quality Invent says about the product launch, "We're all very excited for our second product to hit the marketplace. We've been working to ensure that we have something of value and something that our customers will find useful, and we believe that we've found it."

The car mount holder protects smartphones from being busted about when driving, and is specially made for use on the windshield or dashboard area of any vehicle. It features a large suction cup that keeps the holder securely in place, and a lock and release mechanism that makes storing or retrieving a smartphone easy.

"I love it," says an Amazon customer. "I was keeping my phone in the cup holder of my console before purchasing this mount, and it would always fall down under the seat if I turned or stopped suddenly. Now it's securely held in place and easy to get to when I need it."

The mount allows for users to view their phones at different angles, and rotates up to 360 degrees. The clamp arms are adjustable and designed to hold any smartphone or cell phone with a width of between 2.20 and 3.40 inches. This includes Samsung Galaxy models as well as iPhones, iPods, GPS systems, Sony, Nokia, and Blackberry phones.

It features a single handed operation that can easily be performed while driving. In order to retrieve the phone, users simply push back the side clamp to release, or push it to lock to hold the phone securely in place. The mount has a lightweight design, and is made from materials that resist extreme temperatures. Quality Invent provides a 60 day money back guarantee on their products.
