Pensacola, Fla. ? A company known for their work to help protect the environment from vehicle waste has taken their aid to the next level. Pensacola car recyclers, Butler?s Auto Recycling, recently joined up the local chapter of the Ronald McDonald House Charities of Northwest Florida.

As part of a community outreach program, the team at Butler?s volunteered to cook a fresh dinner for about 40 of the house?s guests on August 27th. Working together, the team prepared a dinner of spaghetti, garlic bread and a fresh salad for the residents of the Pensacola.

The team at Butlers is no stranger to serving their community. In the past few years they have offered their property to local law enforcement as well as search and rescue teams as a training grounds for canines, they have worked with the local Manna chapter to organize a food drive, and have been recognized numerous times for their contributions to protecting the environment from harmful waste caused by automobiles.

Butler's Auto Recycling has been serving Pensacola and the surrounding areas since 1977. As a family-owned business, the team has committed themselves to conserve the future through automotive recycling and to bringing their customers high-quality, low-cost alternatives in auto parts. Though the company is small in size, the tight-knit team not only serves collision businesses, auto mechanic shops, and dealerships but also take pride in serving individuals looking to replace their own parts ? especially on older vehicles. With over 10 million vehicles per year yield, the Pensacola salvage yard can provide a wide source of components and savings to their consumers.
