Nate Coombs of AEI Decon states that, ?We have been operating in the decontamination field for many years, and the secret behind the efficiency of the work we do is that we respect the damage such contamination can cause. Both mold infestations and methamphetamine usage can introduce a variety of severe health risks to the inhabitants of the property in question, so we take every request for help very seriously. We prioritize every cleanup project we work on.?

Notably, the company boasts over 15 years of experience in mold remediation alone, and they have taken their expertise to multiple countries, including the United States, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand. They state on their website that, ?It is our goal to have strict standards for remediation throughout the world. We are currently working with other professionals worldwide to spread this idea.?

Referring to mold, Coombs says that, ?You may happen upon mold in your property in one form or another, but you should be aware that not all types of mold are harmful or can otherwise negatively affect your living space. Spotting mold is not always a reason to panic. However, it is always better to be safe than sorry, so we encourage you to contact us in order to find out whether you have a true mold issue on your hands.? He explains that while mold spores are always present, they need the right conditions in order to ?take root? and propagate into a colony that will represent a significant health hazard. More often than not, he says that mold outbreaks in structures like homes are caused by a prevalence of moisture and sunlight, two factors that contribute greatly to their growth.

Mold can cause a variety of symptoms in a property?s inhabitants, but the affected parties will usually first notice something is wrong when they begin to experience respiratory issues. Coombs advises people to stay wary of unexplained or chronic coughing; sneezing; irritation to the eyes, nose, or throat; and even headaches that last for extended periods of time. ?You may even notice you feel more tired than you used to,? he says. ?Chronic fatigue is often one of the first symptoms associated with toxic mold exposure.?

Furthermore, those who live or work on particularly large properties may be able to spot a pattern if a certain subset of its inhabitants seem to get sick more often. ?If you run a hotel and notice that the staff who work on a certain floor are more likely to call in sick, this can be a sign that you have a mold issue in that area,? he says. ?The likelihood of mold is increased if the area, or somewhere nearby, recently suffered a leak of some kind. Where there is moisture, there can be mold.?

AEI Decon makes it their mission to address any degree of mold contamination, no matter how bad the situation is. To this end, the company places a wide array of mold removal services at the disposal of their clients. They are able to remove mold from or treat areas such as asphalt or cedar roofing shingles, cedar decks, vinyl fences and siding, and many more. Coombs adds, ?We can ensure that virtually every indoor surface in your home or business is freed of mold. An interior living space needs to be absolutely mold free given the confined space, so we do the job right the first time we visit you.?
