Metro Law New York would like to draw the attention of New York residents in need of a tractor-trailer accident attorney to their 18 wheeler accident attorney services. The firm helps drivers and managers handle 18 wheeler and tractor trailer accident cases. With a team of highly qualified, experienced personal injury lawyers, Metro Law strives to get fair compensation for every client they work with.

“In the United States, our highways represent the backbone of industrial America,” says the firm, in a statement echoed on their website. “While this is good for the economy, it can be a nightmare for drivers who are forced to navigate one of the most highly congested avenues of tractor-trailers in the nation. Metro Law knows all too well how true this is. Big rig drivers are often overworked and under-rested, leading to the negligent operation of an 80,000-pound vehicle. Our trucking accident lawyers help people in Newark, New Jersey, and the surrounding areas of New York who have suffered injuries due to negligence on the part of truck drivers and their companies.”

The United States Department of Transportation’s Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration recently reported that 2002 saw over 4000 truck related deaths in the United States. This translates to 10% of all traffic related fatalities. The difference between an 80,000 pound 18 wheeler and a 3,000 pound car is considerable, and a collision between the two can have very serious repercussions for everyone involved. Collisions with 18 wheelers lead to catastrophic injuries and even death in many cases. The law surrounding such accidents is meant to protect drivers and their families from the extreme costs that such injuries may incur in the form of hospital bills, lost wages, and future losses caused by death or permanent or semi-permanent injury.

Metro Law seeks to ensure that their clients and their families get the compensation they are entitled to. They help clients get all the compensation they are entitled to. As they say, "Metro Law is ready to help you sift through the wreckage and paperwork left after a truck accident."

The 18 Wheeler accident law firm has a long history of trial success in personal injury cases. They handle all kinds of personal injury cases, including injury as a result of a defective product or machine, injury as a result of an auto accident, injury at work leading to workers' compensation, and injury on someone else's property. "We have successfully sued many insurance companies to honor coverage for serious injuries, and won large verdicts and settlements for thousands of injured clients," says the firm. "Our experience spans a countless variety of cases involving car crashes, truck accidents, motorcycle accidents, medical malpractice, nursing home injuries, and more. We also represent the families of wrongful death victims."

A number of clients have left positive reviews praising Metro Law for their services. Marty Lamburt is quoted saying, "I suffered a devastating injury at work when a scissor lift tipped over and crushed my foot. A friend referred me to Mr. Solomon and I'm so glad that he did. He sued the town that was responsible for my injuries. The case took several years to resolve. Mr. Solomon always returned my calls and kept me fully informed as to the progress of my case. He settled my case after mediation for almost 2 million dollars. I now have enough money to live comfortably for the rest of my life."

Another client, Noldyne Louis says, "I'm going to give Mr. Solomon 5 Stars because, despite me almost losing it all, he made sure I came out of my case with some money. He really works hard for his clients. I'd recommend him to my friends and family."

Those looking for a New York tractor trailer accident attorney can find exactly what they are looking for at Metro Law New York.
