Sharon Lombardi, a professional personal trainer and Instagram fitness expert, has introduced a 3-step program aimed at helping people lose weight in a short period without going through all the hassles associated with extreme workouts.

According to Sharon, "Losing weight does not have to be something you are afraid of because of what is involved. It should be something you look forward to because of the amazing activities and the results you will have. Let's get something right, it is not an easy walk but it will also not strain you to extremes of quitting. The reason most people dread losing weight is the fact that they associate it with long days at the gym and painful muscles afterwards. When done right, you will love the process of losing weight. Of course, you will have to push some of your limits but it will not be something you will avoid. My 3-step program is geared towards both men and women and men can lose 15 lbs and women can lose 10 lbs in just one month."

Sharon also provides fitness steps and advice on social media. She is an Instagram fitness expert providing different fitness plan lessons to those looking for effective ways to lose weight and live a healthy life.
