October 28, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

An Elizabeth, New Jersey towing company has just announced the launch of its new website. The name of the company is 24 Hr Towing Elizabeth. This is a well-established company that has been serving the towing needs of those in Elizabeth and the surrounding communities for many years now. Their newly launched website can be seen here at <https://24hrtowingelizabeth.com/>.

A company spokesperson has this to say about why they felt the need to launch a new website, "Over the years we have greatly expanded the services that we offer. We felt it was hard to keep up with these changes on our old website, so we decided to do something about it. Our staff also wanted a website that was simpler for our customers to use, offered more ways to contact us than before, and we even strived to make the new website as aesthetically pleasing as possible. We feel we have accomplished all that we set out to do with our new and improved website and our customers should greatly benefit from that."

One of the biggest ways 24 Hr Towing Elizabeth's customers will benefit from the new website is the number of ways that they can contact the company. On the old website, just the 24-hour hotline number was listed. That number still can be found throughout the new website, but there is now a simple contact form that a customer can fill out and click to send too. This form will get the customer a prompt response from a company representative by phone or email.

The new website also talks about the many different types of towing services that the company offers. These services are now described in much more detail than they were on the old website. 24 Hr Towing Elizabeth has a tow truck for any type of towing need that their customers must get done. This includes small, medium, and heavy-duty towing options. They can even tow 18-wheeler cabs with their largest size tow trucks. The company also can haul motorcycles that have experienced mechanical failures or other issues. If someone has been involved in any type of accident, their tow truck drivers are specialists when it comes to towing even the most severely damaged vehicles.

24 Hr Towing Elizabeth can even tow an AWD (all-wheel drive) vehicle for any customer that requests this service. They can do this because they have several flatbed tow truck and trailer options. Regular lift tow trucks should never be used to pull AWD vehicles because it may severely damage their drive train or transmission. Flatbed towing does not damage AWD drive vehicles because neither set of wheels on the disabled vehicle needs to move while in transport.

They are a company that does much more than just offer towing service in Elizabeth, NJ too. 24 Hr Towing Elizabeth can perform a variety of roadside assistance tasks for those that call them. This includes jump-starting any type of vehicle; even those cars and trucks which are in a position where another vehicle cannot pull up alongside them. If the tow truck operator determines that the non-working vehicle's problem is a dead battery, they carry replacement batteries that will fit most makes and models of cars.

Other roadside assistance services that the company provides are such things as putting a small amount of gas into a car that has run out of it. They can even do such things as repair a flat tire and then properly inflate it. Their tow truck drivers even carry slim-jims and other tools that they can open car doors with.

As their name suggests this company can be reached 24-hours a day when someone has a towing emergency. Their spokesperson informed us that they are a towing service provider that prides themselves on responding very quickly when anyone calls them for towing or roadside assistance. It's part of the reason why their company has grown so much over the years.

Those interested in learning more about this emergency towing and roadside assistance provider can refer to their new website for even more information on them.
