Consumers in Chicago, Illinois have many choices when it comes to emergency plumbing services. One consumer recently took to the internet to let others know about a particular Chicago plumbing company that always goes above and beyond the call of duty.

EPC or Emergency Plumbers Chicago offer a full range of emergency as well as standard plumbing services. A representative for the company says, ?We know that having a plumbing emergency is one of the worst things that can happen. No one wants to wake up in the middle of the night to water standing in their house or to the sound of a leak underneath the house. That?s why we have someone on call around the clock; to help in situations like these.?

The company states that they will instantly dispatch someone to those middle of the night calls to stop plumbing issues before they get completely out of hand. Their plumbers have been serving the Chicago area for more than two decades and hire only the most professional and trustworthy technicians.

?Whether our clients need emergency services or simply have a clogged toilet or sink, we will get to them quickly and get the job done,? says the company representative. ?We have a staff of reliable plumbing technicians who will come to the customer to handle any plumbing issue, large or small.?

The company adds that there are a number of ways to tell if a home has plumbing issues. Aside from the obvious standing water and the sound of water, consumers can also look for lower water pressure, which could signal a leak somewhere. The company states that if water pressure is lost and there is no evident reason why, it could signal a leak under the home and left unrepaired, that leak could lead to significant damage.

?We have seen many homeowners who have leaks under the homes, leaks that have been ongoing for quite some time,? says the company spokesperson. ?Unfortunately, by the time they find the leaks, damage has already been done to the home?s foundation. We suggest that our customers call us at any time when they notice even the slightest plumbing issue so that we can solve these problems before they turn into major disasters.?

Emergency Plumbers Chicago have a number of positive consumer reviews on Yelp and other internet sites. The company says that this is due, in part, to their level of professionalism and in the technicians that they hire. The company adds that they love helping their customers and solving their minor to major plumbing problems and that they look forward to helping more customers in the future.

Homeowners in Chicago can contact the company for things as minor as a kitchen sink clog or major issues like leaky pipes and expect someone to get to them quickly. The company states that they pride themselves on being fast to respond to all customer calls, even those in the middle of the night, on weekends and on major holidays.

?We always tell our customers to do their research before they hire any plumber,? says the company?s representative. ?We want our customers to be completely satisfied with the job that we have done and we would never suggest that they need a service or repair that they do not need. We are proud of our reputation for being the most honest and trustworthy plumbing company in Chicagoland and we look forward to helping even more customers in this area with all of their minor or major plumbing needs.?

Those who are interested in learning more can do so by visiting the company on their official website, where a list of all of their services and specific service areas can also be found. Reviews for the company can be found online on Yelp as well as the company?s website and social media pages for those who would like to see what others have had to say about the emergency plumbers.
