Pro Pad Inc., a Mooresville, North Carolina family owned and operated company that provides motorcycle accessory products, has recently added a new air flow motorcycle seat cover to its product line. The company's new Air Series Seat Covers, which can be viewed at <http://thepropad.com/air-series-seat-covers/>, are designed for complete comfort for motorcycle riders. They use the same 3D mesh used on Pro Pad's air pads, and are designed into a cover that goes over the entire seat to help drivers beat the heat.

Pro Pads seat covers are specifically designed to help bikers prevent "hot seat" when their bikes are left in the sunlight. They also allow a better flow of air under the rider, which helps to reduce sweating on hot days. The covers are made out of a 3D style mesh fabric that offers cushioning, making longer rides more comfortable.

"Bikers want to ride," stated Mike Enzwiler of Pro Pad Inc. about the new seat covers. "They want to ride on days that it's hot, just like they do on days that it's cool. We've designed these seat covers to keep riders comfortable no matter what the outside temperature is."

The seat pad covers feature an elastic around the edges and Velcro straps that make attaching them to seats relatively easy. It is available in the basic color of black. There are four sizes: small, medium, large, and extra-large. This takes care of all sizes of bikes.

"It's a great seat cover," says avid biker, Renee. "I love riding during the summer, but honestly, the heat gets to me. Leaving my bike outside in the open sunlight is terrible because it makes my seat almost too hot to sit on. This cover fixes that problem, and makes it so much more comfortable when I'm on the road all day."
