AUSTIN, Texas ? Bathroom Remodel Austin, one of Austin?s top providers of bathroom remodeling services, announced today that it is expanding its contractor group in the face of growth and an increase in bathroom styles being demanded by customers. The company also made the move due to the complex and varying nature of bathroom remodels.

?If you?ve ever redone a bathroom, you know that it can really improve your house, but it can also be a stress ? and worse, a time-consuming, costly hassle if you?re working with the wrong person,? said Joe Futcus, President of Bathroom Remodel Austin. ?We only work with the most highly skilled tradespeople and remodeling contractors who are proven and have excellent references. In this way, we ensure a positive experience in what can be a challenging home renovation process.?

Bathroom Remodel Austin discovered over the years that customers often had a hard time finding the right contractor to do the actual remodel work. Customers complained that searching for a contractor was not only tedious and time consuming, it was error-prone. Some customers discovered too late that they had made the wrong contractor choice. Bathroom Remodel Austin began referring projects to a select group of contractors as a result. Customer satisfaction went up significantly. Now, as demand grows, the company is expanding its list of contractors.

The challenge of finding the right contractor is partly due to the fact that remodeling a bathroom, depending on the desires of the customer, might easily involve multiple construction disciplines, such as resetting/changing of lighting, plumbing, vanities, toilet design/location, flooring, walls and sinks among other intricate details of a bathroom. The company also provides online forms and contacts which clients, wishing to remodel their bathrooms, can provide details on their names, addresses, location and bathroom tasks they need.
