

Wing Chun Dummy Cyber Deal to Start Early at MyKarateStore.com

October 28, 2019

Denver, Colorado - October 28, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

When it comes to Wing Chun dummies, Black Friday and Cyber Monday deals are starting now - and lasting through December 15. Also known as the Mook Joong, this time tested training aid helps wing chun practitioners hone their skills. And December is the perfect month to invest in Wing Chun training.

November and December are popular months for Wing Chun dummy sales, according to Deb at myKarateStore Customer Service. Many martial artists have been saving up all year, and see the purchase as an investment in their skill for the next year. It's also a fun activity when trapped indoors for winter, she says.

Traditional wing chun dummy measurements were openly shared and passed down from previous generations of masters. These very same measurements are used in the wing chun dummies at myKarateStore.com. With varying climates across the USA, dummies are made from woods that will not crack easily in dry climates. But that can withstand the force of training.
