Residential London, Ontario Roofing Company Launches Online Tool For Metal Roofing Systems

November 04, 2019

November 04, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

London, Ontario based Cub Roofing is pleased to announce that new functionality has been added to their website. It now allows clients to access and schedule all of the company's services, including their popular Residential Metal Roofing Installation and Maintenance services. In addition to these amenities, the local company offers a wide variety of roofing services to residents in the area. Their overall excellence, combined with their commitment towards helping their clients, has made them the preferred option for a good part of the London community.

"We are very excited to finally show the public what we've been working on," states Bella Reynolds, a representative of Cub Roofing. "This new part of the website has been under construction for months, so finally seeing it up and running is inspiring, to say the least. We hope that it fits well with the London residents, and addresses some of the worries that they had with our previous platform, as we have worked hard to create an online resource that is worthy of our distinguished clientele."

As the company notes, clients can now request quotes and schedule projects online. The added convenience this offers is remarkable, as it allows clients to schedule an appointment even after-hours, a much sought after alternative for those who have a very busy schedule and struggle to find time to call the company during their working hours.

Furthermore, locating this function should be easier than ever, as the company states that their main priority while designing their new website was to ensure it remained relatively easy to navigate. They state that, regardless of the visitor's tech-savviness, they should be able to take full advantage of the tools that their website offers. When visiting the website, this effort to keep it easily accessible is evident, as Cub Roofing displays all of the information that may be relevant to their clients on the home page.

"We have made an effort to keep our contact form, and the list of services that we offer just a couple of clicks away at all times," states Reynolds, describing their thought-process while designing the website. She states that this new functionality should allow clients to browse the services they want and then schedule a visit from the company at a time that they find most convenient.

The way that the local company treats their clients and their excellent services are two of the main reasons why they are regarded as one of the best providers of metal roof services in London. Their commitment is evident, as the company's services are priced affordably. In addition to this, clients may request a free consultation through the website.

Cub Roofing offers a broad array of roofing services, ranging from simple roof repairs, such as leak and shingle repairs, to the most complicated roofing installation projects that their clients may need. They also offer Siding Installation and Repair services as well as Gutter Repairs and Deck Construction Services, making them one of the most complete roofing contractors in London.

All of the company's projects are carried out by licensed, certified, and insured professionals, ensuring the well being and integrity of each client's assets during a job. These highly-qualified individuals are equipped with high-end tools that facilitate the fulfillment of their duties, making Cub Roofing one of the most capable companies in the area, with short turn-around times.

The company takes great pride in their qualifications, as they have stated several times that they value safety above all else in their projects. They maintain that this is only possible thanks to their years of experience in the industry, a period over which they have honed and developed their skills in order to ensure their client's satisfaction at every stage of a job.

The company's website includes more information on the services offered by Cub Roofing, including a thorough description of what they encompass. They invite all interested parties to reach out to Bella

Reynolds, who will follow up on inquiries about residential metal roofing systems London from prospective clients.
