November 12, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Titanium Asset Protection, a law firm based in Santa Ana, California, has announced that they can help clients secure their personal and business assets through their asset protection services. Asset protection is a vital component of financial planning in which the properties of the client are protected from creditor claims. The licensed asset protection attorney can develop solutions to help the client either avoid or minimize property and financial loss from creditor claims.

Matthew Mullhofer, attorney at law at Titanium Asset Protection, says, "We provide thorough, reliable, and professional assistance to secure assets from various vulnerabilities. We can safeguard your assets from various claims, such as lawsuits from former business partners, liability from misconduct, professional malpractice liability, personal liability of corporate officers, personal injury on the client's premises, liability as guarantor for debts, personal injury due to a motor vehicle accident, and more."

The asset protection attorney at Titanium Asset Protection can help the client secure various kinds of assets, including fixed assets, current assets, accrued assets, capital assets, frozen assets, and intangible assets. People who plan to get the services of an asset protection lawyer are advised to determine the kind of asset protection solution they need; the property or monetary assets that need protection; and when and why those assets need to be protected. They will also need to specify the creditor who is making a claim and how the claim is being pursued, such as a creditor claim, lawsuit, or judgment.

With help from Titanium Asset Protection, clients will be able to remain strong even in the face of intimidation from creditors and be prepared from all kinds of vulnerabilities. The asset protection methods often used by the firm include asset protection trusts, accounts-receivable financing, family limited partnership, and more. They will work closely with clients in the development and implementation of legally sound methods for safeguarding the clients' assets and wealth.

Titanium Asset Protection provide clients with peace of mind knowing that their properties and loved ones are secure whatever happens. The services provided include the services of a wills and testaments attorney, living trust services, bankruptcy relief, and asset protection.

The living trust service allows the avoidance of the expensive and lengthy probate. Not only will it help ensure the proper distribution of the client's assets like a will, but it will also help the beneficiaries avoid the expensive fees and long waiting time. Other advantages of a living trust include court control prevention, conservatorship avoidance, privacy protection, high level of flexibility, tax planning and estate planning, and asset control.

Meanwhile, clients can make use of a funded revocable living trust. This has several benefits, such as quick distribution of assets to beneficiaries after the client has passed away, confidential asset transference within the trust, the fact that a probate court will not be able to control the trust assets, conservatorship avoidance, reduction of family member emotional stress, and complete flexibility.

An important advantage of a living trust is confidentiality. The only persons who will have knowledge about the assets contained in the living trust are those to whom it is designated to. In contrast, a will is publicly presided over by both attorney and judge during the probate and distribution process.

Those who are interested in the services of an asset protection lawyer can visit the firm's website or contact them on the phone or through email. Their business hours are from Monday to Friday, 9:00 am to 5:00 pm.
