November 06, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

ABC Bonding, a 24/7 Jail Bail Bonds company based in California, has just launched a brand-new website. Although the website is new, ABC itself is not a new company and has in fact been in business serving Californians for nearly 30 years.

Most people only have a vague idea of what a bail bonds company actually does and even then, what they know will almost certainly have been learned from television. No matter how entertaining a program is or how real it may seem, television is probably not the best place to get the most accurate information. Fact is better than fiction when it comes to the legal system.

Although bail is a term that most people will recognize it's quite surprising just how many don't know what it really means. Bail is a term used to describe cash that is deposited for security or a bond that is issued by a surety company.

Television nearly always mentions bail in connection with a serious criminal offense and although that is not an inaccurate portrayal it does not tell the whole story. There are many different types of bail bonds such as misdemeanor bonds, traffic bonds, signature bonds, appearance bonds, appeal bonds, and surety bonds.

The majority of people will probably go through life and never need the services of a bail bondsman. However, the need could arise for anyone at any time. Life is uncertain and that means that the unexpected can happen. When it does, nobody wants to be dealing with a fly by night company. What is needed is a professional company with an excellent reputation that will help with the process.

This is where ABC Bonding in California comes into the picture. Their reputation is well-documented online, and their professionalism is highly praised by its clients.

Ilan Funke-Bilu, whose practice often uses ABC, said, "Not all bail bondsmen are created equal. Some are better than others. Greg Sullivan, the owner of ABC Bonding, is better than most. In my practice, over 27 years, no bondsman has helped my clients more. I recommend him highly."

Public awareness of what they do and can offer was the inspiration for their new website. Phone book listings are all well and good, but they really don't reflect how expert the company is. When the need arises for the services of a surety company, putting on a blindfold and sticking a pin into a page of random bail bond companies is not the way to do it.

ABC Bonding's new website will explain far more about who they are as a company and what they can do for potential clients than any phone listing can.

There are of course many different surety companies in California and to complicate matters they all charge essentially the same premium for their services. That makes it difficult for any company in this field to differentiate themselves from their competitors.

Gregory L. Sullivan, owner of ABC Bonding said that he believes professionalism and service are the ways to offer more to his clients and to differentiate his company from all the others.

ABC prides itself on doing just that. They offer a no-cost consultation for every single client and they are available 24 hours a day and 7 days a week by phone. During court hours they are available for in-office consultations.

In addition, there will also be a blog online, which is intended to serve as a way to assist clients in learning how the bail bonds process works. There will also be a frequently asked questions (FAQ) section which will answer many of the questions they receive.

ABC Bail Bonds Services in California hopes that their new website will prove to be a source of helpful information in spreading the word about who they are and what they can do.

As ABC's motto says, "It is better to know us and not need us, than to need us and not know us."
