Greenville, SC -- Leading business aviation services company Special Services Corporation (FlySSC.com) has announced the addition of a Cessna Citation XLS+ to its charter fleet of private jets in South Carolina in response to increased demand from its growing charter clientele in the Southeast United States.

Textron indicates that the Citation XLS+ is the best-selling model of the best-selling Citation private jet brand. Factors that make it so popular include the large cabin and the long transcontinental range. Its 68' cabin allows many passengers to stand fully upright and move around inside the largest cabin in its class.

SSC's XLS+ is configured to comfortably accommodate up to nine passengers, and with a range of 1976 nautical miles or 2273 statute miles, this XLS+ has the largest cabin and the longest range aircraft in SSC's charter fleet.

The XLS+ joins a Citation Encore, Citation Ultra, Citation II and several Cirrus SR22 GTS available for charter.

“We’re delighted to make this midsize private jet available for our clients,” said Doug Goldstrom, President of Sales & Marketing at SSC. “Walking into the cabin of this plane is definitely a VIP experience.”

Charter inquiries can be made by contacting dgoldstrom@flyssc.com.

About Special Services Corporation (SSC)

Since 1958, Special Services has been providing business flight services to the aviation community.

Special Services Corporation (SSC) started as Liberty Life Insurance company in 1905 and later became the Liberty Corporation. The Stevens Textiles (the former parent company of Stevens Aviation) shared airplane services. To meet demand, and that of other local companies, the company that later became SSC acquired and managed additional aircraft for additional clients, and began providing charter services.

Over the years, SSC has operated, managed, purchased and sold many different aircraft including a Lear 35, Citation II, Citation Encore, KA-200, Cheyenne IIXL, Cheyenne IIIA, King Air and Cirrus SR 24. Today, SSC is the longest tenant at the Greenville Downtown Airport (GMU) and offers an array of charter, maintenance, management and other aviation related services. They specialize in helping individuals and companies use private aviation as a competitive advantage.
