May 19, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Tech Dogs, a Plano, Texas based printer repair service, is pleased to announce that they now offer a new franchise opportunity for candidates interested in running a Tech Dogs store. Over the course of the past 10 years, Tech Dogs has established themselves as a dedicated service that supplies the industry's best and most popular office printer products to commercial organizations across Texas and the rest of the United States.

Joe Sison, owner of Tech Dogs, says, "Choosing to go into business for yourself through a franchise purchase is an excellent idea for most entrepreneurial-minded people. The best part about a franchise is that, oftentimes, it can allow those driven by growth to experience an unlimited earnings potential, only capped by their own ambition to thrive. I started Tech Dogs because I had firsthand experience of the stifling corporate world where my income was eventually capped. I wanted more growth, and I wanted to provide similar opportunities to others who have a desire for a self-driven career with a rising income. Tech Dogs is the result of that. Now, we are immensely pleased to be able to say that Tech Dogs is offering an exciting franchise opportunity for interested candidates all over the US."

Rachel Roberts, a representative for Tech Dogs, says, "Many people dream about starting their own business, not just for the financial rewards but more so for the opportunity to be their own boss and run their own life. However, while starting your own business means that you get all the rewards, it also means you need to take all the risks. If you become a Tech Dogs franchise partner, however, you will have a proven operation and business model that will reduce the number of risks you face by a substantial degree. Our solid revenue streams, paired with our low staff and operation costs, make Tech Dogs one of the best business investments you can make!"

As the company explains, the perks of becoming a Tech Dogs franchise partner include low maintenance requirements, a business that is easy to operate, high profit margins and reasonable investments, multiple revenue streams, a proven and carefully refined business model, and more freedom as well as a flexible schedule. As an added bonus, the company also assures that no previous experience is needed to become a Tech Dogs partner.

Tech Dogs provides a nationwide service with experienced and educated technicians who stand ready to troubleshoot printing issues, via phone, over the internet or in person. The company is proud to state that their technical expertise covers a wide variety of laser printers manufactured by brands such as Hewlett Packard, Lexmark, Brother, Epson and more. In addition, Tech Dogs offers a number of Bundled Service Programs that provide extremely valuable technical support and onsite repairs for free. Tech Dogs has proven themselves to be a reliable provider of printer supplies and services. Rama S. from Dallas, Texas shares their experience with the company, saying, "I am impressed with the professionalism of this company. I recently started using them for our business toner needs and recycling. The compatible printer toner that TechDogs supplies is of high quality and the price is reasonable. Quick response on everything and a reasonable price. We have also had them do printer service for us two times and we are quite happy with Tech Dogs."

"You have so much to gain by partnering with Tech Dogs," adds Roberts. "We're a brand that has figured out a winning system. At Tech Dogs, we're all about investing in the future and, by becoming a franchise owner, you will be investing in a profitable concept that has been carefully structured to enable your success. We'll do everything in our power to help you, providing marketing campaigns, full training, and ongoing support. If you're interested in becoming a Tech Dogs franchise owner, get in touch with us now."
