Ropa Roofing is a contractor that has been serving Denver, Golden, and other Colorado areas for many years now. In that time, they have established themselves as a company that not only does excellent roofing work but also goes the extra mile for their customers. This holds true whether they are doing commercial or residential roofing work. As a testament to that fact, they have received yet another very favorable review from a customer. Ropa Roofing owner Brent Roper acknowledged that these favorable reviews are a big source of pride for the company and they are always happy to share them.

In this recent positive review, Jennifer Killett simply states, "Great company, wonderful customer service!"

Roper believes that these few words say a lot. He clarified that by saying, "You can read many reviews and never see the words 'great' or 'wonderful' show up in any of them. Those two words tell us this customer not only was happy with the work we did for her but that she was also very pleased with the way we treated her throughout the project. That is exactly what we at Ropa Roofing strive to accomplish with every single customer that we do work for."

One can simply follow this link to see this Ropa Roofing Customer Review that was posted on the company's Google Maps page. There are 49 other reviews on the company that can be seen on their Google Maps business listing too. When these reviews are totaled, they add up to a nice 4.6 out of a possible 5-stars. That's well above average for a company that does a highly skilled service such as roofing work.

It's not only residential roofing customers that seem very satisfied with their work either. Here is a review from commercial project manager JT Fulton who writes, "Integrity! I have been working with Ropa Roofing for several years now and I want to share my experience. I have worked for other companies in the past that seemed top-notch, but beneath the surface was greed and dishonesty. As a project manager, having confidence in the product/service I'm providing is crucial. The best part about Brent Roper and Ropa Roofing is the confidence I have that every customer will be treated with honesty and integrity from first contact to when warranty work is needed years down the road."

Roper says that they work just as hard to please their commercial customers as they do their residential ones. Ropa states he firmly believes that word of mouth is the best way to grow any business. That's why they not only emphasize doing quality roofing work but also place a premium on excellent customer service.

One of the commercial roofing areas that Ropa Roofing's customers seem to be very pleased with is their thermoplastic polyolefin roofing work. This commercial roofing specialty is more commonly referred to as simply "TPO roofing". Ropa Roofing's commercial crews are well-trained and very experienced when it comes to putting this advanced commercial roof covering down. TPO roof coverings are reasonably priced for all of the benefits that they provide and they are a great flat or low-slope roofing option. It's a popular roof covering for businesses because it not only seals up any commercial roof watertight but it also tends to help save on energy costs due to its non-sun absorbing nature and the thick insulation that's laid underneath it. This makes it an ideal roofing choice for climates like Denver's where they get a mix of abundant sunshine and cooler days throughout the year.

In addition to their TPO roofing Denver, the company offers other commercial roof coverings such as EPDM (Ethylene Propylene Diene Terpolymer), PVC and 100% Silicone Roof Coatings. Ropa Roofing also only uses quality roofing products made by trusted manufacturers such as GAF.
