August 06, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Cris Hollingsworth, a Carthage, MS Social Security Maximization and Safe Money Retirement Income Strategies expert is making available to the public an educational workshop, focused on social security maximization. These workshops will be held at the end of September and the first of October at the Flowood, MS Library. Pre-Retirees and Retirees interested in attending should contact Retirement Solutions via phone at 601-267-3677 or Toll Free at 1-877-944-8444.

The social security maximization workshops are free to attend, and will assist in teaching attendees that their first order of business is to understand that it's not in their best interest to begin by following the herd in choosing the timing and sequence to begin Social Security Income.

“Over 70% of retirees begin as early as possible and leave literally hundreds thousands of dollars on the table. There are over 576 different claiming strategies for married couples to choose from. Retirees need education and the tools necessary to determine how they should navigate through this complicated maze,” explains Cris Hollingsworth of Retirement Solutions.

Retirement income planning is a specialized field and many "accumulation experts" are simply not qualified to set up an efficient retirement income plan, therefore meeting with a RICP (Retirement Income Certified Professional) proves to be a wise option for pre-retirees and retirees. Taxes can only go up in the future and if your retirement plan isn't addressing ways to help you avoid unnecessary taxes in your retirement plan, then you don't have a plan. Many people have a ticking "TAX TIME BOMB" and are doing nothing about it! The majority of Americans agree that a written retirement plan is prudent; however, modern statistics prove only one in six actually have written plans.

According to a survey conducted by Bankrate.com, 36 percent of all Americans of working age are not saving for retirement. The survey shows that among consumers aged 50 to 64, more than one quarter have not even begun to save for their retirement, and these are consumers who are less than 10 years away from retirement age.

"There are two systems of taxation in this country," continues Cris, "one for the informed and one for the uninformed. My attendees become the group that is well informed when it comes to planning Social Security Income and also Retirement Solutions proper integration of tax advantaged strategies which further enhance their retirement security and enjoyment."
