

Towing Service Announces Official Launch In Buffalo, NY

November 29, 2019

November 29, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Permian Basin Towing is proud to announce the official launch of their complete range of services in Buffalo, New York. Speaking on behalf of the company, Kaden Fulton says, "We really just want to thank all of our supporters, friends and families for helping us during this launch. We know that most of our customers need help quickly, which is why we provide emergency assistance, 24 hours a day, every day of the year. We're the ones who will be there to help, even though we had to put our own Thanksgiving dinner on hold to help a motorist in an emergency. As our own way of giving back to our community and those passing through, we are offering a 15% discount off our towing services to help people make the most of the holidays."

Permian Basin Towing provides a full range of towing services, including roadside assistance. Their drivers employ industry best practices and safety procedures, taking pride in maintaining the best customer service possible. They deliver affordable services to those who may need a jumpstart or car lockout assistance. Along with providing winch-out services, the company offers certified wrecker services, and they are ready to use their flatbed trucks to move and secure each customer's vehicle.

Although the weather conditions for Buffalo and surrounding areas were predicted to show high winds and rain heading into Thanksgiving, many motorists were unprepared. Weather conditions like these mean that motorists need to pay even more attention than usual. Along with reduced visibility, there is a much heightened risk of hydroplaning when travelling at highway speeds. With temperatures dropping to freezing overnight, the company has been extremely busy helping those who were caught outside unexpectedly.

The professionals at Permian Basin Towing have the experience to know how to deal with every kind of roadside accident. They also provide free towing estimates for those who shop around, and those who want to learn more can do so here: <http://gmbp.in/u/5ddbec25ec41c>. With their new website, the company has made it as easy as possible for stranded motorists to call them in an emergency as well.

Their website also features some of their customer reviews, including one from Nicole Sanders (who gave them a 5-Star rating). In her review, she mentions that her assistance arrived in less than 20 minutes, far quicker than the 60 minute estimate she was initially given. She elaborates, "It was cold and freezing and the driver got us into his warm truck and got our car hooked up and took us home, and he even gave us an awesome rate for towing when everyone else was charging a lot more. We will recommend this company to all of our family and friends. Thank you so much, sir."

Fulton comments that, "Getting feedback from our customers like Nicole and others just makes us want to keep helping as many motorists in need as we can. We promise not to make a drama out of your unfortunate situation. We hope in return that more of our customers will leave their reviews on Google so that more people can hear about us when they need assistance."

There are times when only state of the art equipment will get a motorist out of the problem they are stuck in. Permian Basin Towing has both the equipment and the experienced professionals needed to ensure that a car or motorcycle of any size is always safely transported without further damage. Fulton concludes, "We saw a real need for a reliable towing company in Buffalo which would serve the entire area—one which offers affordable services around the clock. We look forward to providing more of our fast assistance through the holidays and beyond so that everyone can get back to enjoying their day. If you need urgent roadside assistance or towing, just give us the opportunity to help. We won't let you down."
