December 09, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Titanium Asset Protection, a law firm based in Santa Ana, California, has issued an advisory for those looking to make the most of their assets. The firm seeks to ensure that they get the vital estate planning they need from experienced attorneys who have long specialized in securing personal and business assets to protect them from creditor claims.

Matthew Mullhofer, Lead Counsel at Titanium Asset Protection, says, "We help individuals, families, investors, and businesses with their estate planning needs. A large number of our clients are also investors and business owners; this keeps us at the forefront of knowing precisely how to address their unique needs. We leverage that knowledge so that we can help all our clients get the very best advice and litigation support, helping heirs obtain their legal inheritance."

Mullhofer also provides informative advice through his blog, such as a post published in May entitled "5 California Asset Protection Tips," which highlights a few key steps anyone can take to help protect themselves and their assets from an unforeseen lawsuit. It does not matter if assets are personal or business related; they are at risk in the event of a lawsuit. The first step, to set up an Asset Protection Trust, is also a key component of effective estate planning. Mullhofer has been practicing estate planning law in California for over 17 years, and this gives him a wealth of experience to pull from when his clients and readers require advice. According to The Law Reviews, an additional US$1.75 Billion has been raised in Litigation Finance since 2016, about a 30% increase. This alone can give pause for thought to anyone whose assets are unprotected. Mullhofer continues, "I've always found it exciting to work with businesses and investors. As we look forward to 2020 and a new decade, we will be expanding our services to help many more investors and business protect their assets by providing specialized services on which they can rely."

Mullhofer's expertise, and personal manner is noted by his clients for helping them get the best possible outcome. Vince Newsom, Co-Owner and Chief Operations Officer at Rokit Gaming says in his Yelp review that, "As a business owner I can confidently say that we wouldn't be where we are today without the help of Matt. His time and effort spent drove one of the larger and more crucial deals for my company. Even when we thought it was lost, it was Matt that brought it back into the pipeline and helped close the deal! I would highly recommend his services."

The firm's recent press release, which was featured on USA Today, highlights how their advocacy can help clients remain strong, "even in the face of intimidation from creditors and," help them, "be prepared from all kinds of vulnerabilities." In it Mullhofer adds, "We provide thorough, reliable, and professional assistance to secure assets from various vulnerabilities. We can safeguard your assets from various claims, such as lawsuits from former business partners, liability from misconduct, professional malpractice liability, personal liability of corporate officers, personal injury on the client's premises, liability as guarantor for debts, personal injury due to a motor vehicle accident, and more."

In addition to helping entrepreneurial businesses, Titanium Asset Protection also works with clients in the administration of trusts and family estates, including Living Trusts. The firm has been instrumental in helping many families avoid potentially prolonged waiting periods, costs, and potential public scrutiny involved in probate. Living wills have become very popular for those who appreciate their privacy at a difficult and stressful time.

Within a Living Trust, the only people privy to the assets contained within are those who have been designated to receive them. This ensures that assets are protected and distributed according to the deceased's wishes, and avoids probate delays altogether. Here too, their clients attest to Titanium Asset Protection's ability to give them the highest quality advice and services. Jim Johnson gave the firm 5 Stars in his Yelp review, saying, "I was searching online for a good trust and elder law attorney. I called three or four offices. When I called Mr. Mullhofer the attorney, Judy, his manager, was courteous and attentive to my concerns. I told her I needed to speak to him as soon as possible. It was late on a Friday and I didn't expect a call until Monday. But, after hours, Mr. Mullhofer called me back. I told him my wife had questions that she needed answered before she could sleep that night and asked him to call her. He did and our concern and resulting trust was done and in place five days later. Matthew and his staff were great and more than helpful. I heartily recommend him and his services to anyone reading this!"

Those looking to protect their assets against unforeseen litigation and those who want to ensure that their assets are distributed according to their wishes are encouraged to contact Lead Counsel Matthew Mullhofer and his team through the firm's official website at <https://www.mullhoferlaw.com/>.
