December 02, 2019 -
PutskA, an online business that sells smart and stylish baby products, has invited parents to view the products they have on offer on their website as well as their Amazon page. PutskA is a family-owned business that was born out of the need to innovate in baby products, an industry that had been stagnating for several years and had seen few to no improvements in the functionality of its products. In fact, the company asserts that the industry had almost exclusively seen aesthetic changes alone. Interested parties may visit PutskA to read more.

Lily Nathan, Owner of PutskA, states, "After giving birth to my first child, there were several lessons that I had to learn the hard way. The first thing I learned was that being a mother is not easy. There are not many tools available to help first-time mothers, and few offer comfort without compromising aesthetic value, or they are very expensive. After giving birth to my second child, I decided I had enough, so I started my own company and began manufacturing my own products with solutions to facilitate everyday tasks that are otherwise complicated to an unnecessary degree."

With a strong commitment and a clear motivation to facilitate parenting, PutskA has released five different products. Each of these products seeks to ease a different challenge that parents tend to come across while raising their babies and toddlers. The company?s most popular product is the Diaper Caddy, which has received over 400 positive reviews on their Amazon page. It offers a convenient solution that allows parents to carry around all of the necessary products they need to be prepared for all emergencies and situations that may arise throughout the day.

PutskA explains that what makes their Diaper Caddy different from other brands is the convenience that it offers, alongside its stylish look. Their diaper caddy organizer was designed to suit parents and their babies in the best possible way. It is spacious and sturdy, with compartments of varying sizes that allow essential baby products to be more easily organized. This Caddy can be folded and stored easily when not in use, ensuring that there are no compromises to be made in convenience despite its large, roomy size.

When unfolded, the PuskA Diaper Caddy measures 15x9x7?, and it has three different compartments. It also has deep and wide side pockets for easy access to the most essential products, keeping them within the parent's reach at all times. It is made of eco-friendly felt, making it safe for the baby, and it is quite strong and durable. A protective ribbon around the sharp edges protects the wearer and ensures safety when it is being carried around, minimizing the risk of accidents. This product has an average customer rating of 4.7 stars on their Amazon page, which now boasts over 400 verified reviews. One of the most recent testimonials, written by Annie Heart, says, "Before this purchase, I was using a shower caddy for my baby's items, which we keep in the living room. It was always disorganized, bulging, and looked out of place. This solved all those problems and more. There are so many pockets around the exterior and three large sections inside. We have her toys in one, pacifiers and lotion in another, and burp cloths, bibs, and wipes in the third. If we wanted, there is plenty of room for diapers and cream. The color is a light gray and the fabric is sturdy. I highly recommend this to any parent wanting to be more organized."

The other PutskA products have similar ratings on Amazon, as the company has received an outstanding amount of support for their convenient solutions to common problems. These products include Pacifier Clips, Bandana Bibs, Potty Training Charts, and so on.
