Dental Office Brings Flexite To Atlanta

December 05, 2019

December 05, 2019 -
Tucker, GA based Rose Dental is currently working on bringing biocompatibility options to their patients by making it possible to get toxin-free, biocompatible partials, dentures, retainers and night guards. The dental fixtures all come from a company that specializes in producing chemical and heavy metal free, holistic dental options. Rose Dental has chosen to make use of these fixtures in order to bring some of the best dental care to residents in the area. Whether one is dealing with bruxism, TMJ, Sleep apnea or if they are in need of full or partial dentures, they can rely on these high quality dental products.

The practice uses these prosthetics in order to ensure a comfortable fit and minimize the risk of allergic reaction in their patients. Rose Dental?s Dentures, which are usually made for patients who have lost their natural teeth, come from the same manufacturer, who has been producing high quality prosthetics for over 50 years. This company, known as Flexite, says, ?Our dentures replace missing teeth and restore the ability to eat, talk, and smile with confidence.? Dentures are removable, unlike implants or bridges, and the ones produced by Flexite are made to be as comfortable as possible.

Their years of experience have yielded a great deal of knowledge in the field and Flexite is now one of the most well-known names in the prosthetic industry. The plastics used by the company are all FDA registered and approved, in addition to being manufactured in total compliance with European CE regulations. Flexite products also received a 99th percentile rating, the highest possible rating, from an independent lab known as Clifford Consulting and Research that specializes in testing allergy prone patients for different kinds of plastic sensitivity. Aside from providing some of the best, toxin free TMJ, sleep apnea and bruxism devices, Flexite produces technologically superior and comfortable pieces.

?Flexite biocompatible dentures eliminate the metallic taste of conventional prosthetics and are more comfortable and aesthetically pleasing. Flexite is the optimum choice for chemical-free holistic dentures. Conventional dentures are made with acrylic powder and a liquid monomer chemical. They contain toxic and allergenic substances, and studies show these substances can leach out of dentures and into the mouth. All Flexite products are highly biocompatible, allergen-free and are designed to fit and function as closely as possible to your natural smile. Flexite biocompatible, allergen-free dentures restore your smile, but also your confidence and sense of well-being,? says Flexite.

Rose Dental is also quite pleased to announce that they will be offering Flexite MP dentures. Patients that are allergic to acrylic monomers can get Rose Dental?s Flexite Ultra nylon thermoplastic which, in addition to being recommended for patients who are allergic to acrylic monomers, is much stronger than conventional acrylic dentures.

The Atlanta holistic dentistry is run by Dr. ZIna Aaron, and it provides professional dental care in a comfortable, relaxing, mercury free and hypoallergenic environment. The Rose Dental team takes pride in providing exceptional dental care using only the highest quality, biologically friendly materials available.

A number of patients have left positive reviews of Rose Dental online praising their high quality dental services. Robbie Mcneal, in a 5-Star review of the dental clinic, states, ?My experience was the best! I actually felt like they were my family. The entire staff was very friendly and comforting to me, and I am so grateful for that, especially with me being terrified of dentists since my childhood years. I love that they're so caring, informative, honest and happy. They all worked as a family to provide me the care that I needed. The energy there was just amazing. I already told one of my customers and my daughter as well about the wonderful service and they are planning to visit this office. I will be having more work done, as I really need it, and I can't wait to return because they will be my dental family from now on. Thank you, Rose Dental, I appreciate every one of you all that assisted me, y'all are awesome! I'm so grateful.?
