

BOGO Special on CoQ10 200mg

August 18, 2014

August 18, 2014 -

Houston, TX -- Sorvita Health Products announced an end of summer special on its Coenzyme Q10 (CoQ10) supplement. CoQ10, also known as ubiquinone, is a vitamin-like antioxidant compound used to support heart health, cognitive function, and increased energy.

"CoQ10 occurs naturally in our bodies," said Mike Alderfer of Sorvita. "It was discovered in the 1950s. Research has shown that it is an essential component of healthy cells and has anti-aging properties. It may be especially beneficial for people who take statin drugs to also take a CoQ10 supplement, since statins are known to reduce CoQ10 levels in the body for some individuals."

Alderfer said Sorvita Coenzyme Q10 is delivered in a natural vegetable capsule that supplies an easily digestible form of ubiquinone. The body then converts the ubiquinone to ubiquinol, the active form of CoQ10, so that both nutrients are available to improve ATP production. ATP (adenosine triphosphate), a nucleotide, provides energy on a cellular level. "That energy production is essential for the cells to function properly," said Alderfer. "Boosting ATP production in turn gives the cells the ability to do their job throughout the body. The nutrients in CoQ10 literally feed the cells, which is why it's so effective at slowing the aging process. Many of our customers report improved cognitive function and see their energy levels increase when they take CoQ10 regularly."

The current special, which ends August 31st, is a buy one get one free offer. Alderfer said customers can order through Amazon.com, or directly through Sorvita's website at <http://www.coq10special.com> If they place two bottles in their shopping cart and use the coupon code COQ10BGO at checkout, they will receive the second bottle free.

"It's a great time for people who have been thinking about adding CoQ10 to try it and also for our existing customers to get a supply at half off the regular price for two bottles," said Alderfer. "Our customers can be assured of the best possible quality for this and all of our products. Everything we sell is laboratory tested for consistency, purity and potency. We also back our products with a no hassle money back guarantee." Each bottle contains 30 200mg capsules and is currently priced at $18.89 on Sorvita's site.
