December 13, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

TNL Anaheim, based in Anaheim, California, has pointed out that the cost of living in Anaheim and nearby cities continues to rise. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the consumer price index for Los Angeles-Long Beach-Anaheim has increased from 274.38 in June 2019 to 277.23 in November 2019. This means that inflation is continuing with its upward trend and it is therefore no surprise that many people in Anaheim sometimes find themselves in a situation where they don't have sufficient funds for a particular expense, especially the big ones like hospital bills, tuition fees, and more. Thus, more companies like TNL Anaheim are offering their services to provide financial assistance to those who need it in Anaheim and neighboring areas.

Casey Ryeback from TNL Anaheim says, "The increase in living costs in Anaheim is resulting in more people finding themselves having a lack of funds, which in turn forces them to search for financial assistance. Furthermore, what often happens is that when people receive their pay, they often spend on various things without thinking about future expenses. This is because people get bombarded with ads from various sources, including online. The result is that people tend to overspend. This is even made worse by the high cost of living in Anaheim and other cities in California."

Indeed, the consumer price index for Los Angeles-Long Beach-Anaheim stands at 277.24 for November 2019. While this is slightly lower compared to 278.08 for October 2019, it represents a significant increase from 274.38 in June 2019. In fact, a quick look at the graph of CPI from 2009 to 2019 indicates a steady growth of the CPI, with just 220.72 in January 2009, with 1982 to 1984 as the base period and representing 100. Coupled with poor personal finance management, the result is that many people often find themselves searching for a title pawn Anaheim residents can rely on.

Furthermore, many people will really find it difficult to find financial assistance from traditional sources like banks. This is because, unsurprisingly, they have a poor credit history. This is where companies like TNL Anaheim can come to their rescue. This is because even those with poor credit can get some financial assistance from them. Whether people have a poor credit or not doesn't matter. They will still be able to obtain financial assistance from the company as long as their car has enough equity value. People can get a financial assistance as high as the market value of the car. And those who are interested only need to take three simple steps.

First, people can simply call TNL Anaheim on the phone or fill out an online form. The only primary requirements is that they have a clean car title. Second, they will just have to submit a few necessary documents. This is in contrast to the bank where people will need to submit loads of paperwork, only to find out later on that their application has been rejected.

And most important of all is that people get access to the funds that they need in much less time compared to when dealing with a bank. Rather people having to wait for the usual seven days to find out if the application has been approved, TNL Anaheim can issue an approval within 15 minutes. This is precisely what people are looking for when they need to get some financial assistance. Thus, the third and final step is done after TNL Anaheim has approved the request for financial assistance, where the applicant can get the amount right away.

TNL Anaheim strives to be the fastest when it comes to providing the financial assistance. This is why they encourage customers to apply online or call them first. In this manner, they would be able to process the application much faster and customers need not even drive to their office.
