IM Coupons is a company that specializes in searching for and making available to Internet marketers the latest and the top deals and discounts that are available for them online. Its goal is to help entrepreneurs, marketers and business owners by offering them various resources at discounted prices. This startup company was founded by Allen Walker, who is also known as The Mysterious Marketer. He is an author, business strategist, serial entrepreneur, engineer, inventor, marketer, designer, and programmer.

Social Media Marketing Agency 2.0 in the Tai Lopez Courses & Programs is a four-month program that helps people establish their own social media marketing agency. It can be used even by those who have absolutely no experience in marketing. In Real Estate Mentor, people will learn how to use other people's money (OPM) to begin building cash flow from property investments. In Ecommerce Blueprint, people will learn how to profit from ecommerce, including how to use social media to rise above competitors.

Those who join Cashflow 2.0 will get Reseller Rights to promote sales funnels that have already been tested and proven to produce millions of dollars of income. People will just need to copy and paste their own unique link to get a commission each time someone clicks it and buys one of the products. Members will also be provided with digital marketing training to optimize their passive income from the commissions.

In Credit Mentor 3.0, people will learn from experts who have already built credit lines amounting to millions of dollars, how to fix and build their credit. It will also teach people how to get free travel perks, such as free upgrades to first class flights and 5-star hotels.

In How to Invest, people will learn how to shift from simply trading time for money to having their money work for them. In 12 Foundations, people will learn 12 key pieces of information and in-depth insights about success, including real estate investing, launching a business, marketing, and growing their social circle. And in 67 Steps, every day for 67 days, students will receive an in-depth video or audio lesson that teaches the four pillar of living the good life: health, wealth, love, and happiness.

Meanwhile, IM Coupons had previously made available the Advertsuite coupon code. This is a tool where users enter keywords or products into the system and it provides the relevant Facebook posts. Advertsuite provides users with data about the relevant Facebook posts, including the landing page that those Facebook posts are driving people to. Users would be able to see the marketing strategies being used and possibly adopt them, allowing them to avoid a lot of testing before placing their ads, saving them time and money.

Meanwhile, many other Internet marketing tools are available at discounts. These include MediaCloudPro, Gigrove, Promo Republic, Camtasia, Re:plain, Holiday PLR Recipe Packs, and more. MediaCloudPro is a platform that offers an all-in-one media assets bundle with drag-and-drop image editors. Promo Republic is a social media tool that provides custom images and templates, enabling small businesses to produce the kind of media content used primarily by the big companies. Gigrove is a WordPress as a Service web store and payments platform that makes it easy to sell professional products and services through a custom domain. Camtasia permits the creation of video content for marketing.

People who would like to know more about the Tai Lopez coupon discount code and other deals available through IM Coupons can check out their website or contact them on the telephone or via email.
