

Men's Soap Company Announces Free Shipping

August 10, 2015

August 10, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

College Station, Texas company Men's Soap Company has announced that they will begin offering free shipping for all orders over $10. In addition, they are also improving on their return policy to reflect a 365-day return policy for all of their products.

"The free shipping covers virtually all of the products on our website," says owner Shwan Abdulmajid.

The free shipping and returns policy means less money being paid out of pocket, and the company hopes that this will encourage customers to buy. Malcolm, a Men's Soap Company customer who couldn't be more pleased with the announcement, said, "Who doesn't love free stuff? I mean, free shipping is still getting something for free, and I already love the shaving soaps. The free shipping is just icing on the cake."

The return policy is also for customer benefit. The company announced that in order for men to determine if they like and can use their products, they have to have time to try them. With an entire year to determine whether the product really works for them, those purchasing should have more than enough time to try out the shaving products and decide whether or not they like them.

The company's products include a number of toiletries and necessities, such as their signature Himalaya

Scented Shave Soap with Coconut Oil and Shea Butter. The shave soap is made from all natural, high quality ingredients, and provides soothing comfort to the skin, even allowing for daily shaving without irritation. The moisturizing soap creates a rich lather, which softens beards for a smoother and closer shave. It is designed to stop irritation in those with sensitive skin. Consumers can purchase the shaving soap with free shipping by going to www.menssoapco.com/products/mens-shaving-soap-himalaya.

In addition to shaving soap, Men's Soap Company also offers razor blades, and a number of other shaving related products, most of which qualify for free shipping.

"Customer satisfaction is very important to us and we wanted to offer free shipping and 365-day free returns on products on our website. Many of our customers love to have that option in case the product does not work for them," says Shwan Abdulmajid.
