December 20, 2019 -

Israel based BrightDiamonds is proud to announce the launch of their new product, a Jewelry Cleaner Polish Powder Solution that promises to restore old pieces of jewelry back to their former glory, making them shine once more as they did in years past. This cleaning solution is a safe, hassle-free way of getting grime and dirt off diamonds, gold, platinum, and any non-treated gemstone, allowing handlers to polish each item and obtain outstanding results without damaging the jewelry in question. More information on their products is available here: https://www.b-diamonds.com/.

Aharon Cohen, a representative of BrightDiamonds, states, "We are very excited about this launch, as we believe this product will change the way people wear their jewelry, bringing some of their older pieces back to their wardrobe with a renewed look. In just under 10 minutes, you will be all set and ready to go, with your old jewelry that now looks as good as the day it was bought."

BrightDiamonds states that their product was specially designed to fill the high demand that exists for a professional yet simple at-home jewelry cleaner that guarantees optimal results. Their Jewelry Cleaning Powder fulfills this purpose, with an outcome that is safe and gentle on the jewelry despite its high degree of effectiveness. It does not require additional cleaning accessories, as it penetrates deep into the smallest slits where conventional jewelry cleaners cannot, making it a convenient and efficient solution.

The BrightDiamonds Jewelry Cleaning Powder comes in packs of three. It is a soluble product that can promptly clean virtually any type of jewelry, including bracelets, chains, rings, wedding rings, earrings, and necklaces. Its liquid solution penetrates small parts that are invisible to the naked eye, going deeper than any other jewelry cleaning product could in just under ten minutes of rinsing in hot water. The use of jewelry polishing cloth or a cleaning brush is not necessary, as the jewelry will come out shining and bright as the day it was bought when it is removed from the boiling water. This eliminates the risk of scratches or any other damage that the jewelry may sustain while being cleaned with one of these alternatives, given that no scrubbing is necessary.

On their Amazon page, BrightDiamonds shares all of the information necessary to use their cleaning powder effectively, as well as information on how it works and any precautions that their customers are advised to take. Despite being new to the platform, their product has already received several positive customer reviews, enjoying an outstanding rating of 4.4/5 Stars. One of their most recent testimonials, written by Daniel Cole, says, "I wish I took before and after photos of the jewelry I cleaned with this product. I was a little bit skeptic but the results were amazing. It?s so easy with the six short steps. No need for a basket, brush, and polishing cloth that could harm my expensive jewelry. After 10 minutes, all the jewelry I put in the pot was so clean and looked like new. My wedding ring has a center diamond, so I needed a gentle product to clean it. It cleaned up well and the gold band, side diamonds, and diamond look shiny, clean, and brand new. I also cleaned my diamond earrings that weren't cleaned for the past two years and they look shiny and brand new. I?m so happy with the ease of this product and most importantly with the results."

Another of their recent reviews, written by Teri Dias, states, "I used this product to clean several pieces of jewelry. The pieces were different metals (gold, titanium, silver), as well as a ring with diamonds. I was not sure what would happen by simmering the jewelry, but the dirty water at the end proved to me it works. All the pieces look shiny and the diamonds look pretty darn sparkly too! I would recommend this product to a friend for sure."

BrightDiamond's website includes more information regarding the product and how it may be purchased from them directly, though interested parties may also buy BrightDiamonds jewelry cleaner solution on Amazon. Customers may reach out to Aharon Cohen directly to learn more as well.
