Thermopeutic, a US-Based Company, has created a line of cold therapy products that work well for the sports injury as well for the sprain, falls, and much more. The Company has come up with the lower back pain ice pack for athletes that work great for pain relief and the injuries. Its hot-selling multipurpose cold pack comes in 15" X 7" that works best for the back, knee, arm, shoulder, foot, lower back pain, etc.

Sportsperson reckons injuries or sprains due to the gaming equipment or due to rigorous exercises mostly. In this situation, if someone hurt their lower back pain, then this premium ice pack by Thermopeutic is a complete savior. This ice pack has a high cold formula that stays for twice the time of other ice packs, and its ice gel pack is 30% thicker too.

According to Howard Shen, co-founder of Thermopeutic, "This premium ice pack works well for the people with kinds of injuries and lower back pain. Moreover, it provides excellent compression in the treatment area with its high-quality neoprene strap."

This reusable ice pack is made of non-toxic gel and leak-proof plastic. It stays cold for longer as compared to other ice packs, and the company currently offers a lifetime warranty card while purchasing.

Lukas Kucinski, the customer of Thermopeutic, states, "This ice pack is perfect for my needs. For years I've been using a generic ice pack to alleviate my lower back pain, and it just wasn't cutting it anymore. I like how this one is longer and flatter than others I've seen. It covers my entire back and doesn't feel uncomfortable when I lay on it. It retains cold well. Usually can get 45-60 mins of cool when I take out of the freezer. It has some nice touches too, an extra strap, a customized ziploc bag for storage and a cloth pouch to protect the skin. Overall, I'm quite pleased with the product."

This shows that customers are delighted with this lower back pain ice pack as it provides quick recovery. Those who are interested in getting this premium ice pack to comfort their injuries or pains can buy it at Amazon or visit the website of the Company.
