5 Star Savannah Personal Injury Attorney Shares Another Glowing Review

December 30, 2019

Savannah, Georgia - December 30, 2019 -
The Brown Firm in Savannah is pleased to share yet another 5-star review they have received. This review was written on them by a client who they just recently successfully litigated a personal injury case for. It?s just one of several positive reviews that the company has received over the past year because of their expert personal injury litigation services.

In this recent 5-star review Steven Sweeney wrote, ?I met Harry Brown personally and he sat with me for 20 minutes on the initial consultation to explain everything. He even called after my surgery to see how I was doing. Met with him several more times after that. I was kept informed about my case throughout. I highly recommend Harry Brown attorney.? If one wants to see this actual review, it can be found on the firm?s Google Maps page business listing which was linked to above.

Managing Attorney, Harry Brown JR. DC, JD, had this to say about why they get so many glowing reviews on the legal services they provide, ?We are a law firm that prides itself on not only being aggressive with the way we handle personal injury cases but by also being very customer orientated during the process too. This is something that all the attorneys and staff members here have really bought into. The personal injury cases that we handle our done in the most compassionate and caring way possible due to their often-delicate nature. As the last review pointed out, we also make sure we communicate with our clients on a regular basis about the most recent happenings with their cases.?

Brown also says that every Savannah personal injury lawyer on their legal team is dedicated to their craft and knows the importance of giving more personalized legal care. It?s a firm whose attorneys combine for over 30 years of personal injury litigation experience. The managing attorney also emphasized that they will put every bit of that legal experience to work if that?s what it takes to successfully litigate one of their clients? personal injury cases.

One thing that really sets the Brown Firm apart from other personal injury attorneys in the area is the fact that managing attorney Harry Brown is considered to be an expert in Chiropractic care. He mentioned that he practiced chiropractic medicine professionally for 10 years after receiving his Doctor of Chiropractic degree. Brown says that because of this he fully understands the extent of his client's injuries. This gives his clients a leg up when it comes to receiving just compensation and proper treatment for personal injuries that have greatly impacted their lives.

The Brown Firm specializes in several different personal injury areas. They have a solid reputation in all of Georgia for successfully litigating slip and fall accidents and work-related injuries. Brown states that they also handle many different types of accident cases that have resulted in personal injuries. These include car, truck, motorcycle, and even bicycle accidents. The firm has also successfully represented many clients who lost loved ones because of another party?s wanton neglect. They also are willing to sit down and have a consultation with those that have suffered bodily harm because a medical care provider did not do their job in a responsible manner.

Brown also mentioned that they are a great firm to turn to when someone needs help for defective product cases. This is a personal injury area that is a specialty of his firm. He says they have a track record that is second to none when it comes to getting substantial settlements or successfully litigating personal injury cases that were caused by poor product design. Brown Jr says anyone who feels they have been injured because of a product?s design flaw owes it to themselves to at least sit-down and discuss what happened with a competent personal injury lawyer. He went on to add that at firms like theirs, these initial consultations are always done free of charge.
