December 17, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Australian company Easy Rent Options launches its rental service for Centrelink clients. The service offers a more affordable way of acquiring household goods for Australians who are unable to make full upfront payments.

More information can be found at <https://easyrentoptions.com.au/centrepay/>.

The newly launched service provides Centrelink clients with a better alternative to buying old and cheap household goods, appliances and electronics or resorting to loan sharks to purchase brand new items.

Payment options are made simple, there is a choice of using Centrepay, which is a voluntary bill-paying service that is free for Centrelink customers. Clients can use Centrepay to arrange regular Deductions from their Centrelink payments. Deduction can be set up at any time and the quickest way to do it is through Centrelink.

The second option is via Direct Debit payments, they are made direct from a client's bank account. This is an option for people who are good at managing their cash flow.

Both of the above options allow Centrelink clients access to quality goods at affordable weekly or fortnightly payments.

To further assist Centrelink clients, Easy Rent Options employs a simple application process. Clients just have to select from the various options for television sets and other goods on the company's website. After making the selection and continuing the application process, the company notifies the clients of the application results within a few hours.

Easy Rent Options also allows clients to request goods that are not listed on their website. Clients simply have to indicate the retailers or suppliers of their choice during application, and the company will get in touch with the sellers and make the necessary arrangements to acquire the items.

As with any other financing options, clients need to meet certain criteria to qualify for the application. Generally, however, the Easy Rent Options only requires that the applicants be of good character and able to comfortably make the payments stated in the contract terms.

Centrelink clients interested in the household goods rental options offered by Easy Rent Options may visit the above-mentioned website for more information.

Easy Rent Options is a business name of CTR Rentals Pty Ltd which holds ABN 44 010 413 215 - Australian Credit License 388677.
