Imperial Crane Rental Expands Services In Michigan

December 30, 2019

December 30, 2019 -
Chicago, Illinois based Imperial Crane Services Inc. has announced that they are expanding services for construction crane sales and crane rentals as well as allowing more clients to rent to own a construction crane in order to help reach the entirety of Midwest America. The company recently celebrated over 50 years in the business.

Gina Kaktis, Marketing Director for Imperial Crane Services Inc., says, ?We have experienced heavy demand for construction crane rentals, leasing, and rent-to-own options from Benton Harbor, Michigan and construction projects in the area. Given the strong economic boost and several major projects progressing over the next few years, we want all site management teams to have access to the full range of our services. With our expertise, projects can minimize downtime and ensure they have exactly the right type of crane available every day of the job, and we can provide experienced operators as well. This is why we advise that our clients book the machinery and services they require as far in advance as possible once the plans and schedule are confirmed.?

The company is known throughout all industry sectors for providing fully insured and regularly serviced machinery. This attention to detail further serves to ensure that all their clients receive the best customer care possible, going so far as to help them navigate the necessary approvals and permits required to transport the machinery to the site. In practice, this means ventures such as long term construction projects can rest assured that they have the benefit of an experienced company that supplies exactly the right type of crane exactly when and where it is needed. Kaktis continues, ?Whether you to purchase new or used cranes and other construction equipment or simply want to rent to buy the machinery you require, we are sure we can provide exactly what your project calls for. The sheer variety of options we offer can help you manage your project financing more effectively up front. With more than 50 years helping build America, we have lent our assistance in virtually every type of road and construction project as well as many emergencies.?

The firm was recently featured on the ABC6 news site in an article that highlighted their other services, which many projects need. These include extending their qualified professionals? expertise to renting out state-of-the art technology (such as the 3D Lift Plan, AutoCAD and the Telogis GPS system) that is necessary to plan and manage projects more effectively and efficiently. The firm can also provide an OSHA approved Qualified Signal Person Training Course that verifies that those attending have the appropriate signal person?s training and knowledge, meeting the strict safety requirements of both ASME and OSHA.

From Boom Truck Cranes and conventional Latticeboom Truck Cranes through to Hydraulic, Carrydeck, Rough and All Terrain Cranes, Imperial Crane Inc. can meet the needs of all their clients. The firm has helped erect some of the biggest bridges and roads in and around Chicago and beyond as well as many other construction projects, providing state-of-the-art equipment in the 15-600 ton range as well as developing turnkey lifting solutions for unique or specialized situations. They are always available for 24 hour emergency services, mirroring the hours many of their clients maintain in order to minimize the impact on neighboring communities as well as to complete projects on time.

Some may recall that the firm made the Chicago news last summer when they were called out to help rescue a stranded fire truck. Imperial Crane Inc. was able to respond in a prompt and orderly fashion since they already provide round the clock emergency crane services in Chicago, a necessary feature in every metropolitan area. With the expansion across the Midwest due to continue unabated, they are sure to continue to be in high demand.

Kaktis concludes, ?Our commitment to excellence is integral to our daily operations, a commitment that underpins our remarkable customer service and our ongoing dedication to the safest state-of-the-art equipment and procedures. We will continue to help build the future while ensuring strict adherence to safety. We know the demand around Southwest Michigan is sure to be high and we are poised to provide exactly what our clients need at reasonable costs.?
