On Time Website Traffic, a Search Engine Optimization company from Atco, New Jersey, has announced the launch of services that are specifically designed to help business owners gain leads from their social media channels. The popularity of these channels has grown substantially over the past decade, with billions of people around the world using at least one form of social media nearly every day, and most having several accounts on various sites.

Marcus Brown and support team of On Time Website Traffic released a statement about the company's services, "Social media is the one thing with enough power to bring tons of customers to your website. We provide the service that will make that happen."

Search engines are fond of these sites as well. On Time Website Traffic provides backlinks to websites through various sites, such as Yahoo Answers, Google Plus, Facebook, Wikipedia, WordPress, Twitter, and others.

Studies have shown that nearly 90 percent of all websites in the world don't get enough traffic. Without traffic, online businesses are likely to fail. Another study shows that many business owners are unaware of how to draw traffic to their sites.

"We can help businesses to increase their traffic, because this is what we do, and we do it well," states Marcus Brown.

On Time Website Traffic submits and links websites to thousands of search engine friendly web directories manually. This enables websites to be ranked higher in search results. Since the average consumer only scrolls through the first three pages or so of web results when searching, getting those top page results are a must for heavy traffic. Studies have also shown that the top three websites on the first page of Google's search results for any given topic, earn up to 50 percent more than any other website in their respective categories.

On Time Website Traffic provides a service that supplies organic, or natural traffic, from search engine results to websites, thus providing a higher chance of success for those online businesses.

The company offers experienced SEO services to websites all over the world. Those interested in getting more information about these can click now to visit On Time Website Traffic.
