The Flood Co. Carries Out Mold Removal For School In Salt Lake City

January 07, 2020

January 07, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Flood Co. based in Centerville, Utah recently completed a mold removal project in a Utah school. The company, which has been providing disaster repair services for over 20 years, was called in to inspect visible mold that was discovered on the premises. Having assessed the extent of the damage, their specialists rectified the situation so that the school was made safe for use once more. In this situation, a pipe that was incorrectly installed during construction was the source of the leak.

Daryl Olsen, President of The Flood Co. says, "All too often, we see the effects of long term water damage becoming a biohazard. If you spot any sign of mold, we advise you to call in a specialist who understands how to remove it and will have the correct safety equipment so they don't put their own health at risk. In this case, the cost of the repairs was $20,000. It involved fixing damage to the wall (in which the pipe was housed) as well as a series of cabinets and carpets in multiple areas."

Any mold in a home or other location with people or animals nearby is a health concern, which is why the company recommends the substance's removal (whether or not it is toxic). It is particularly hazardous to the very young, the elderly and those with impaired immune systems. To prevent large amounts of spores from becoming airborne, specially engineered containment equipment, including HEPA-filtered scrubbers, is required.

Those looking for local mold removal services may call The Flood Co. directly from the website to get a free estimate or follow up on any concerns they have. The company is used to dealing with emergency situations, so they are available 24/7. Those who prefer can send a message to them through via a handy online form included on the company's website.

The Flood Co. is able to undertake both mitigation and repairs for those who prefer the convenience of dealing with only one company. They have been rated one of the top damage restoration companies in Salt Lake City. Learn more here: Mold Removal Salt Lake City.

For example, Jo Carrington says on Google, "Daryl and The Flood Co. did an amazing job! They came out immediately to assess the problem and got right to work to make things right. They worked with my insurance and advised me in what they were doing and got a very fair settlement. They helped with some extras that I requested, and they were very fair in their pricing. They did excellent work and cleaned up after themselves. I highly recommend them!?"

Another review by Victoria Giles shows the company's commitment to doing an excellent job for each of their customers. In her Google review, she says, "Daryl Olsen was very good. I just asked him to come and check for mold. He went the extra mile and checked my entire house. He stayed for over two hours. I was super worried because I have a one year old. It meant a lot to me that he wanted to make sure everything was safe for me and my family. I am also doing a rent to own on it and he gave me great advice that is very helpful. I would recommend Daryl to anyone!?"

Separately, Olsen responds, "We are always grateful for feedback from our customers. We specialize in water, fire, smoke and mold damage restoration. We constantly strive to push forward improvements and refinements of our restoration methods. We know we can restore homes and properties to pre-damage condition and, should we fail to meet your expectations, just give us a call and we will make it right."

The company was recently featured on USA Today, in an article that described their completion of a mold removal project for a home in Utah (due to a long term leak that left water in the walls and under the hardwood floors). Olsen is quoted in the article saying, "It was a difficult task but one that was in the realm of the expertise of our team members." The company has the expertise to deal with every sort of water damage, whether from flooding, sewerage and even fires where water has been used to put it out.

Those who need water damage cleanup, mold removal or other services provided by The Flood Co. are encouraged to contact them as soon as possible. Social media users are invited to follow the company on
