Zit Buys Homes LLC, a real estate consultant based out of Austin, Texas, has published a new blog post for homeowners looking to sell their houses. Jack Rady, a representative for Zit Buys Homes LLC, says, ?As a real estate consultant, we make sure that we are doing all we can to help both our clients as well as every single person who owns a house. Most people, when they get set to sell their houses, fail to consider some important questions they need to ask themselves. We?ve published this blog post to make sure that everyone can do their due diligence before they go through this process.?

The first question the post recommends that homeowners ask themselves is ?How Much Will The Repairs Cost?? The post explains that, ?repairs can often snowball, with one repair leading to another, and another and so on. If you decide to list, making the needed repairs is important so that your house appears in the best light to buyers.?

Next, the post says that homeowners should ask whether they can afford to wait. Zit Buys Homes LLC explains, ?Owning a house costs money. Maintenance, repairs, utility bills, homeowners insurance and property taxes can add up to a pretty penny, and that?s not even factoring in your mortgage costs if you have one. The longer you hold on to your unwanted property, the more it costs you. Ask any real estate investor, and they will tell you that, once you make the decision to sell, you?ll want to move quickly.? Other questions to ask include ?What Is The True Value of Your Home?? and ?Do You Know About All The Costs You Will Incur Selling A House In Austin??

Finally, the company states that homeowners need to consider whether they should list, use FSBO, or sell directly. In the post, the company says, ?Once you know what your house is really worth, you can factor in your repair costs, holding costs, commissions and all the other costs associated with selling a house in Austin. This is how you can determine if a direct sale to a company, a traditional listing or a FSBO listing will be right for you. Every property and situation is a little different, which is why it is always important to consider your options before deciding how to sell.? I looked online for local companies that bought houses in the Austin area. I saw a company with the name Zit Buys Homes and checked out their website. They were definitely a local home buyer in Austin. I filled out a form and, within two minutes, Jack called me. This was the best decision I could have ever made. Jack was calm, thoughtful, straightforward and I felt at ease. He followed through on everything he promised. Never took advantage of us or our situation by giving us a fair offer so we could walk away with money to start over. Jack is certainly a trusted home buyer who really cares.?
