December 31, 2019

December 31, 2019 -
Abilene, Tx. - Shipping and packing is an industry that is constantly evolving today, with more online purchases than ever. Ahead of the new year, a local shipping store in Abilene, Texas is announcing upcoming shipping tends. The trends we can look for in 2020 include corrugated packaging, minimalism, smart packing and an overall push for environmentally friendly materials. These services can change how packing and shipping are viewed and make it more efficient and environmentally friendly in the eyes of users.

The replacement of plastic in the packing and shipping world is at the forefront of everyone?s mind. Corrugated packaging is the first new trend in 2020 that is slightly more environmentally cautious. This will use air, instead of layers of plastic to cushion packages. In 2020 also expect shipping companies to become as minimalist as possible with not only materials but also design. Also look for smart packaging on many levels, from better tracking to cloud labeling.

Overall, the packing and shipping trends in 2020 will change the way packing and shipping in Abilene, Texas is done this year. Look for stores like Pack & Mail to be updating shipping and packing all year long. Pack & Mail is not only a quality packing and shipping store, but it provides affordable services as well.
