SeboCalm, based in Or Yehuda, Israel, has announced that they have released the SeboCalm Redness Relief Facial Moisturizer for Sensitive Skin on Amazon. This unique face moisturizer is a mattifying vegan hypoallergenic soothing anti itch cream for sensitive, oily and combination facial or neck skin. It has been designed to be an extremely calming moisturizer, particularly for oily, combination, and normal to dry face skin. It has also been found to minimize the symptoms of acne, seborrheic dermatitis, and rosacea.

SeboCalm was established back in 1990 when two pharmacists who owned a pharmacy decided to develop products for people with irritated, sensitive, and red skin. Over time, the company was able to develop a broad range of cosmetic products for various skin conditions. SeboCalm products are always manufactured under strict laboratory conditions, using cutting edge scientific knowledge and research. The SeboCalm Facial Moisturizer, just like the other line of products from SeboCalm, underwent stringent manufacturing processes and has been sensitivity and hypoallergenic tested.

The SeboCalm Facial Moisturizer underwent a sensitivity test on June 9, 2013 by the Institute of Skin Research in Israel, under the direction of Prof. Sarah Brenner, Director and Specialist in Dermatology. And it was also subjected to a hypoallergenic test on July 24, 2013 by the Institute of Skin Research in Israel, also under the direction of Prof. Sarah Brenner. The test results indicated that this facial moisturizer is compatible with all skin types, especially oily, combination, and normal to dry. Also, there were reductions in red, sensitive, irritated and itchy skin symptoms. It was also found that it is pore minimizing, and that it can also be utilized as an after sun moisturizer or as an after-shave moisturizer. It feels non-oily, gentle, lightweight, and calming. It has a very high antioxidant effect, it is hypoallergenic, vegan & cruelty free, and it is suitable for both men and women of all ages.

Meanwhile, SeboCalm has also released what they consider to be the best face wash for sensitive skin. This is a complementary product for the Facial Moisturizer for Sensitive Skin. It is a non-oily facial cleansing soap that is capable of removing dirt and reducing blemishes without irritating the skin. It is a water based daily repair face wash that is recommended by dermatologists. It is a pore cleaner that does not contain parabens and sulfates. As such, it adequately complements the SeboCalm Facial Moisturizer for Sensitive Skin.

The SeboCalm Facial Moisturizer for Sensitive Skin has two basic plant-based ingredients. These are the black cohosh root and Aloe barbadensis. Black cohosh root offers a number of benefits. It has medicinal properties, it may act as an anti-inflammatory agent or as an antioxidant, and it can help decrease inflammation. Meanwhile, Aloe barbadensis is a unique rare strain of aloe vera that has soothing, moisturizing and healing characteristics. It also has anti-fungal and anti-inflammatory properties and it is great for skin irritations and skin cuts. Thus, this two-plant combination makes the moisturizer capable of soothing sensitive and red irritated skin.

This facial moisturizer is also enriched with vitamin E to protect the skin from environmental damage and from free radicals. The plant extracts also absorb excess oil and are capable of preventing enlarged pores.

Customers who have already tried this facial moisturizer have left highly positive reviews. For instance, April H. gave the product five stars and said, "I really like that it is good for sensitive skin as it doesn't bother my face. It works really well and I recommend this to anyone that wants some good stuff." Tanya D. also gave the product a five star rating and said, "Basically. This stuff works. 40 years of red skin ... gone."

Another product that complements the SeboCalm Facial Moisturizer for Sensitive Skin is a Pore Minimizer Face Toner for Sensitive Skin. It is a vegan hypoallergenic exfoliating and redness relief peeling water based facial skin toner for the face and neck. It has been found to preserve the elasticity of the skin and to add to the skin cleansing routine.
