Dark Matter Magazine, a company based in Altamonte Springs, Florida, is now offering printing services that range from business logo print stickers, vinyl stickers, custom labels, to magnets. The announcement was made on the company's website.

Company representative James Hooper is excited to cater its services to Altamonte Springs residents. "Dark Matter Magazine strives to find new ways to bring to life the company's vision, and now we are pleased to open our doors to Florida's creatives, as well as surrounding businesses," Hooper stated. "It was only a matter of time before we expanded our services, and now here we are."

The company was founded by a solid team of graphic artists and designers who started off from print stickers whose initial goal was to make things better by documenting the interesting things made by creatives for creatives. The result was a website called "Dark Matter Magazine", and it contains blogs that mainly focus on science and technology, research, and outdoor adventures, among many others. In an effort to promote their brand, the team decided to extend the Dark Matter Magazine brand into a printing business that specializes in customized business logo stickers and magnets.

Startup businesses in the Altamonte Springs area are pleased with Dark Matter Magazine's recent announcement of their custom labels and personalized stickers. There has been a shortage of establishments that offer printing in the area. Chef Ray Sremm, owner of a startup catering business, narrated his experience with Dark Matter Magazine. "It's almost impossible to find a credible printing business service in this part of the woods," Sremm said, with a chuckle. "My business is just starting and I needed assistance in the printing of hundreds of menu cards, staff shirts, among other stuff. DMM popped out just in time to help me out; it's easier with them around because I don't have to worry about my business' printing needs too much."

As of this writing, the company is planning to add more services other than printing. Dark Matter Magazine's team of creatives is currently looking at logo creating and consultation to cater to startup businesses in need of new logos. "I'd like to think our business is always evolving, so watch out for more things to come over at Dark Matter," Hooper said.
