January 16, 2020 -
Apex Pest Control Leeds in Leeds, West Yorkshire, UK, has announced that they are offering pest extermination services in Leeds and neighbouring areas. The company offers local pest control experts who are able to get rid of various kinds of pests, like mice, rats, moles, bed bugs, and more. They want people to know that what makes them stand out includes the fact that they are fully insured, they have 30 years of experience, they are available seven days a week, and they are members of the National Pest Technicians Association (NPTA).

Tony Johnson, President of Apex Pest Control, says, ?Our previous commercial clients include retailers, house associations, corporate customers, and public buildings. We are ready to respond to any pest emergency and we will quickly get rid of your infestation. Meanwhile, most residential pest control problems will require just one visit from our pest technicians, who will locate the infestation, treat it, and eliminate it. They will also offer guidance to the homeowners on how to pest-proof the home.?

Apex Pest Control offers three main types of pest control services: domestic, commercial, and agricultural & forestry. Domestic pest control is for households that need a quick solution to their pest problems, such as infestations by insects and rodents. Although they don?t provide a 24-hour emergency service, they do work seven days a week. The areas they cover include Rotherham, Sheffield, Barnsley, Doncaster, Leeds, and North Derbyshire areas.

They offer pest exterminator services for various kinds of pests. These include bed bugs, biscuit beetle, black ants, carpet beetle, cockroaches, feral pigeons, fleas, squirrels, honey bee, mice, moles, rats, wasps, and woodworm. Mice control is one of their commonly used services. This is because while mice are small creatures, they can wreak havoc on homes by destroying various items like wires, insulation, and belongings, and they also put the home residents at risk of getting one of the many mouse bourne diseases. Signs of mice infestation include certain odours; the appearance of holes; unexplained damage to building materials; nests; chew or teeth markings on wood, food items, and building materials; tracks; smear marks; and more.

The team at Apex Pest Control also have the ability to eradicate both black rat and brown rat pests. In eradicating rats, they follow a simple process: surveying; proofing and prevention; baiting; and follow up visits. First, they conduct an inspection of the home or building and immediate area for any signs of rats to determine the size of the infestation. During the inspection, they will also look for places like water pipes and drain pipes where there is a need for proofing and sealing up to prevent rats from entering and leaving the property. The next step is baiting, where various pesticides are used. And the last step consists of follow up visits to get rid of dead rats and check if any rats are coming back.

Tony Johnson established Apex Pest Control in 2016 when he decided to move back to Sheffield. The company is a family run business that provides quality pest control services across Leeds, Sheffield, Rotherham, Barnsley, and North Derbyshire. Despite Apex being founded only in 2016, Tony Johnson has more than 30 years of personal experience in pest control. He had undergone training provided by The British Pest Control Association and The Royal Society of Health. His original business existed from the late 1980s to 2012, before he decided to follow a different path in forestry management in Scotland. This job required the control of pest species, including wild deer to prevent the animals from damaging the newly planted trees. Part of his work included training people to Level 1 and 2 of the Deer Stalking Certification. Apex Pest Control is a member of the NPTA, British Mole Catchers Register, and The Contractors Health and Safety Assessment Scheme.
