Temecula and Lake Elsinore residents in search of the best options for clear braces will be pleased to know that California based Burke & Redford Orthodontists use the latest braces technology at their private practice. This Temecula orthodontist team specializes in finding successful solutions, and clear braces are a patient favorite today. Dr. Ryan Redford and Dr. Michael Burke are dedicated to helping their patients create beautiful smiles by straightening their teeth and correcting bites.

The most popular option patients choose to straighten their teeth is the well-known Invisalign system with clear aligner trays. The doctors' Invisalign results with before and after images can be seen on their responsive, user-friendly website.

Burke & Redford Orthodontists have been treating patients using Invisalign since 2000, which is when this treatment modality first became publicly available. Dr. Redford is a top orthodontist who has treated thousands of patients with braces at the practice, including Invisalign. Dr. Burke was among the first orthodontists in the United States to be trained in the proper use of Invisalign to treat crooked teeth.

Invisalign is a dental treatment that involves the use of doctor-directed clear aligners to move and straighten teeth and align bites. They are FDA approved as well as BPA, BPS, latex, and gluten free, which means they are a perfectly safe alternative to traditional braces. To date, over 5 million teens and adults have chosen Invisalign to straighten their teeth.

"The doctors work together with their patients and assist in navigating the path to an improved smile," states Dr. Ryan Redford. "While clear aligners are a valuable tool in straightening teeth and correcting bites, it is important to remember that they are simply a tool. The results achieved during treatment with Invisalign are dependent upon the skill level of the treating orthodontist and staff. Patients can see how Invisalign will transform their smile through a free, no-obligation consultation.?

The greatest advantage offered by Invisalign is comfort. Invisalign is free of the metal wires and brackets found in traditional braces. Patients have the luxury of removing Invisalign aligners before meals, as well as during brushing and flossing. This can be more convenient than wearing traditional braces for some. The aligners are almost impossible to detect, which makes them perfect for patients who want a discreet treatment option.

Burke & Redford Orthodontists have many other orthodontic treatments available, including the incredibly popular self-ligating system, the Damon braces system. This system of treatment can result in what many call a "Damon Smile", which is characterized by a broad smile, straight teeth, and less dark space at the corners of your mouth. "We love creating full, toothy smiles and refer to them in our office as "Burke & Redford Smiles." Before and after Damon braces photos show improved facial aesthetics in addition to straighter teeth when working with these expert doctors. In the hands of the right orthodontist, patients can end up with improved facial balance and a more youthful appearance. This has been called by some as the "Damon System Bracelift"??.

The Damon system uses self-ligating braces, which are essentially braces that do not need elastic ties to secure the brackets to the archwire, using special clips instead to move the teeth into place. Self-ligating braces come in either ceramic or metal bracket versions and provide many of the same benefits as traditional braces along with some additional positive features.

New patients looking for the latest types of invisible braces available on the market today are encouraged to call the office of Burke & Redford Orthodontists. The orthodontists have over 30 years of experience with all types of oral health issues. They are happy to offer a free consultation to discuss clear braces or any other type of device patients may need. Find out more information on their informative, educational website.
